Heavy Fighting Rages Below Vietnam DMZ

B52s Hammer North Vietnam Supply Lines

SAIGON (AP) — Heavy fighting raged just below the demilitarized zone today while U.S. B52 bombers kept up the attack on North Vietnam.

North Vietnamese gunners slammed more than 2,500 shells into South Vietnamese troops trying to expand their territorial control in Quang Tri, South Vietnam's northernmost province.

Both South Vietnamese marines pushing from Quang Tri City up the coastal plain and paratroopers pressing westward into the foothills came under heavy attack over the weekend.

Eighteen South Vietnamese troops were reported killed and 77 wounded, while 32 North Vietnamese were reported killed.

The B52s struck around North Vietnam's Highway 7, the supply line that leads through the Barthelemy Pass into the Plain of Jars in northern Laos, 155 miles southwest of Hanoi. U.S. officials reported Hanoi was making a massive effort to supply North Vietnamese troops advancing through the Plain of Jars.

The B52s also struck in support of South Vietnamese forces battling along the DMZ and to the south of the buffer zone. The eight-jet bombers launched more than 20 strikes to the west, northwest, north and southwest of Quang Tri City. The U.S. Command reported that monsoons again sharply curtailed operations by U.S. fighter-bombers in the southern panhandle of North Vietnam, limiting them to about 30 strikes Sunday.

It was the 10th straight day the smaller planes have flown less than 100 strikes; and, on most of these days, the number has been under 50.

King Hussein Confirms Coup Attempt

BEIRUT (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan today accused Libyan leader Muammar Kadhafi, Palestinian guerrilla chief Yasser Arafat and one of Arafat's top aides of organizing a plot to overthrow him.

But he denied that his recent hospitalization was related to the plot and said an air force officer whose plane crashed last weekend was not involved. Lebanese newspapers reported over the weekend that the officer rocketed Hussein's helicopter just as he was about to board it and Hussein escaped with a slight wound.

In an interview with the Beirut newspaper An Nahar, the 37-year-old monarch confirmed earlier reports of an unsuccessful coup to be led by an army officer and carried out Nov. 6.

Hussein said Kadhafi was to fly to Damascus once the coup started and pressure Syria and Iraq into sending planes to attack the Royal Palace, radio station and military installations in Amman.

"We were aware of the contacts between the army officer and Arafat and specially Salah Khalaf, a man we once helped and who has now betrayed us," Hussein said.

The army officer is Col. Rafel Hindawi, an armored corps commander who has been arrested on charges of treason. Khalaf is one of the founders of Al Fatah, the largest guerrilla group. The Jordanians arrested him during the 1970 civil war with the guerrillas but later released him.

Hussein said the commando movement, with Libyan help, had "bought" Hindawi when he made a trip to Cairo a year ago. He led the guerrillas to believe a secret organization in the Jordanian army would help, the king said.

Bloodmobile Visit Planned For Tuesday

C. P. Pfeiffer, Pickaway County Blood Program chairman, reminds Pickaway County residents that the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Circleville from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday at Community United Methodist Church.

In order to maintain total coverage for all Pickaway County residents and their families, it is important that full support is received for this visit. The quota for the day is 124 units.

Those who have donated blood on the Bloodmobile's last visit on Oct. 26 will not be able to do so tomorrow. Therefore, it is essential that those who have not given blood for sometime to come during this visit in order to meet our quota.

A request for O negative and AB positive donations has been received from Dr. Melanie Kennedy, Medical Director of the Columbus Red Cross Blood Center. These units are needed for open-heart surgery at University Hospital.

To avoid waiting in line, donors are urged to make an appointment by calling the Red Cross, 474-5736.

Showdown With Saigon Set?

Nixon, Kissinger Talk

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Nixon scheduled his third meeting in as many days with Henry A. Kissinger today, possibly as a prelude to a showdown with the South Vietnamese on terms of a proposed Vietnam ceasefire.

Nixon, who flew to his Maryland mountain retreat here Sunday night after spending the weekend in New York City, arranged to confer during the afternoon with Kissinger, his chief negotiator to the secret Vietnam peace talks in Paris.

The meetings came amid speculation by administration

sources that an interruption in the Paris peace talks may mean the United States has decided to tell South Vietnam that no more concessions can be won from North Vietnam in a ceasefire agreement.

The talks, which adjourned Saturday, are scheduled to resume Dec. 4.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker met for 10 minutes today with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu in Saigon. There was no announcement on what was discussed, but one source said Bunker may have delivered a private message to Thieu from President Nixon.

Thieu's senior foreign policy adviser, Nguyen Phu Duc, was expected to arrive in Washington from Paris today or Tuesday. The White House said over the weekend that Nixon had agreed to a request from Thieu to receive Duc for discussions of the ceasefire negotiations in Paris.

Administration officials had said as late as Friday that Nixon would not meet Duc, and the apparent change of mind was regarded by other sources as significant.

The President met with Kissinger twice while in New York—for an hour late Saturday night, after Kissinger returned from Paris, and again for an hour Sunday morning.

Some observers suspected that a decision by Le Duc Tho, Hanoi's chief negotiator, to remain in Paris while Kissinger returned here for consultations indicated the main negotiating problem is between the United States and Saigon.

Administration sources said that if the talks between Kissinger and Tho had reached an in-

Drug - Dependent Doctors Probed

By FRANK CAREY AP Science Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — The American Medical Association was urged Sunday to take strong action to protect the public against a "significant problem" of alcoholism, drug-dependence and other psychiatric disorders among practicing physicians in America.

The Council on Mental Health of the AMA's Board of Trustees made the call to the AMA's policy-making House of Delegates at the opening of the organization's 26th clinical convention.

The group suggested that the number of such emotionally "sick" doctors is relatively small compared with the total number of doctors in the United States. But it is said there is "consistent" evidence that such problems exist and that occasionally they jeopardize such doctors' "accountability to the public."

And it added that one study has reported that estimates of the incidence of narcotic addiction in physicians "varies from 30 to 100 times that in the general population" — indicating that such addiction is an "occupational hazard" for physicians.

The council urged the AMA to approve a series of graduated "guidelines," short of disciplinary action, to get such "sick" doctors of various types to concede their problem, seek professional help and possibly curtail or suspend practice voluntarily.

But it also recommended that, if there is a failure from such referrals to the doctors' "peers"—including hospital staffs and medical societies—the matter "should be referred to the appropriate licensing body in the state."

That is, under this ultimate guideline, such a doctor could be faced with suspension or loss of his license.

The council further recommended that the AMA's judicial experts draft "a model law" dealing with physicians having such problems, and disseminate it to state and county medical societies for legislative action in their jurisdiction.

The council pointed out that only two states—Florida and Texas—now have "sick doctor statute" legislation.

In making the recommendations, the council called for "compassionate" toughness on the part of other doctors who might be aware of a colleague's alcoholism, drug-dependence or other psychiatric trouble. It said that, up to now, this has been the situation:

"Peer referral for help usually reveals an entrenched 'conspiracy of silence.' Physicians strongly resist recognition of the fact that any of their num-

Ashville Man Dies In Fairfield County Accident

Charles E. Moss, 51, Route 1, Ashville, was killed and three other persons were injured in a car-pickup truck crash west of Lancaster Saturday night.

Fairfield County Sheriff's Deputies said Moss was driving west on Route 45 when his car collided with a pickup truck driven by William D. Dunn, 24, Carroll.

The truck was northbound on Route 16, and Moss failed to yield the right of way at the intersection according to the accident report.

Moss' daughter, Judy K. McCord, 28, West Liberty, was in critical condition at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, from a head injury.

Her daughter, Heather A. McCord, 19-months, suffered a scratch on her forehead. Mrs. Francis Moss, 51, was not injured.

Dunn was admitted to a Lancaster area hospital for treatment of possible internal injuries.

Moss was born in Pickaway County Sept. 15, 1921, the son of Harley and Flossie Wells Moss.

Urge Offshore Superports

Would Accommodate Big Oil Tankers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special study for the Federal Maritime Administration has recommended construction of floating superports off the Delaware and Louisiana coasts for huge tankers to unload oil imported from abroad.

The offshore port facilities are necessary to accommodate the growing fleet of deep draft supertankers that require water depths of 100 feet, the report said.

The report, issued Sunday, is the first of several being prepared through federal agencies and by some states. In addition to the Maritime Administration, it is being studied by the Corps of Engineers and the Council on Environmental Quality.

It was prepared by Soros, Inc., a New York consulting firm.

The mayor of Rehoboth Beach, Del., Lester Johnson, was quick to criticize the recommendation for a superport off the Delaware coast, warning of possible oil spills off the beach resort.

"I understand it's impossible to unload without spills," Johnson said Sunday. "And it's been proven that anything out there washes ashore."

The recommendation of the Louisiana site was welcomed by P.J. Mills, executive director of the Louisiana Superport authority.

"The study put Louisiana five or six jumps ahead of the nearest competitor," he said.

A group of oilmen announced in New Orleans last week they have formed a corporation to build a superport off the Louisiana coast if the state gets federal permission.

Brother, Sister Die In Columbus Blaze

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Douglas Neal, 6, and his 2-year-old sister Tina died Sunday when fire raced through their home north side home. The mother and two other children were hospitalized.

Joanne Neal, 28, was treated for shock and smoke inhalation at St. Anthony Hospital, Arlene, 10, was in critical condition at Childrens Hospital with burns over 90 per cent of her body and Daniel, 9, was listed as good at Childrens where he was being treated for burns and smoke inhalation.

Officials said the fire apparently started in the kitchen.

List Of Privileges Shows Senators Even Get Free Ice

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. senators receive wallet-size copies of their electrocardiograms, free ice, and speech-writing services from the Library of Congress.

They also are entitled to use plants from the Botanic Garden for their offices, or reproductions of paintings and prints from the National Gallery of Art.

These are just a few samplings from a list of "allowances, emoluments, and privileges" available to U.S. senators and published in a new Congressional Handbook.

The 204-page handbook was prepared by the Joint Committee on Congressional Operations. There is a companion volume for House members.

The handbook notes that senators automatically receive $45,000 in group life insurance coverage at a monthly cost of $26.82. The amount is based on their salaries of $42,500 a year.

A senator's allowance for staff help, and the size of his office suite, depends on how populous a state he represents.

Senators from states with a population of over 17 million—California and New York—are allowed $558,145 a year for staff costs. Senators from states with a population of three million or less receive $311,577.

Similarly, seven-room office suites are assigned to senators from states with over 12 million people (California and New York), six-room suites to senators from states with populations of 7 to 12 million (Pennsylvania, Illinois, Texas, Michigan, Ohio and New Jersey), and five-room suites to senators from states with less than seven million.

Choice of suites is on the basis of seniority.

Senators receive allowances for stationery, postage, telephone and telegraph, travel and offices in home states. These also are based on state population and, in the case of travel, on the distance between a senator's state and Washington. Senators are given congressional license tag and have virtually unrestricted parking privileges in Washington.

The handbook offers advice on how to keep office files and write to government officials. It even tells the location of gymnasiums in the Senate office buildings.

To have the Library of Congress prepare a speech, the senator need only provide such information as what viewpoint he wants expressed, desired length of the speech, and the occasion for giving the speech.

But there is a limit, the handbook cautions. "Term papers, master's theses, and other research requests of constituents cannot be prepared," it says.

Unwillingness To Seek Help Behind Many Heart Deaths?

CHICAGO (AP) — Many patients who die of heart attacks might be saved if they would seek medical assistance earlier, say two Maryland physicians.

Drs. Manning Feinleib and Michael J. Davidson of the National Heart and Lung Institute at Bethesda, Md., report on a survey of a Maryland suburban area of 250,000 population in the Nov. 27 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

"By far the greatest day in the care of the patient with an acute myocardial infarction was his own unwillingness to call for help," they reported.

Heart disease is the leading cause of death in the United States, and myocardial infarction accounts for the greatest percentage of these deaths. In this disease, an area of the heart muscle is damaged or killed because of an insufficient supply of blood.

Feinleib and Davidson studied the 719 recorded deaths of persons 35 to 74 years of age in Montgomery County for 1969. Of these, 257 died of coronary heart disease.

At least 155 of the heart-fatality victims died "before receiving any definitive medical care," they said.

Major factors found to be responsible for the delay were: delay in recognizing symptoms, denial of symptoms, delay in seeking medical assistance and delay in arrival at a medical facility.

The first three forms of patient delay, the researchers said, "can take from hours to days, or even weeks." The fourth is related to transportation and usually is measured in minutes.

To help shorten the delay, the physicians called for a public education program aimed at getting heart victims to seek help as soon as they experience the first symptoms of an attack.

They also recommend development of a nationwide network of round-the-clock outpatient diagnostic centers, or cardiac checkpoints, to examine any patient who reports with symptoms which might indicate a heart attack.

FAMOUS last words . . .

Two years ago late in the winter, The Herald phone rang, and on the other end of the line was Dick Walker, Ohio State defensive backfield coach . . .

The conversation went a little like this . . .

Walker: "We understand we've been asleep in our recruiting and that there's a helluva fullback in our own back yard we haven't contacted."

The Herald: "You must be talking about Champ Henson at Teays Valley."

Walker: "That's right. Has he signed a letter of intent to go to any other school?"

The Herald: "We don't think so but we have heard he is ready to accept a scholarship at Michigan."

Walker: "What do you think of him?"

The Herald: "He's big enough and strong enough and has the desire. He'll play football for you somewhere, but he might not have the speed to play in the backfield at Ohio State."

As soon as Walker hung up the receiver on his end of the line, we called the Raymond Henson home . . . Mrs. Henson answered and we told her about the call from Ohio State . . . The story of how Woody Hayes snatched Champ from Michigan's grasp is now history . . .

That boy who we said might not be fast enough to play in the backfield at Ohio State is the nation's leading scorer as a sophomore . . . His 20th touchdown Saturday helped beat Michigan and is the record for the most in a single season by any Ohio State football player.

Ohio Counts 33 Dead In Holiday Traffic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A double-death smashup Sunday night at a Montgomery County intersection where a stop sign was missing pushed Ohio's Thanksgiving weekend traffic toll up to 33.

The count was two more than the 31 predicted by Highway Safety Department statisticians for the 102-hour period and was the second worst of the year on the state's streets and highways.

High so far for the year was 42 deaths Aug. 12-14, a regulation-length, non-holiday weekend. Memorial Day was the previously high holiday weekend with 32 deaths.

The Montgomery County crash occurred when an Indiana man drove his car from a rural road onto Ohio 40 and into the path of another auto. The Ohio Highway Patrol post at Dayton said a stop sign for traffic on the intersecting road was missing.

Most deadly of the weekend accidents was a two-car wreck in Morgan County Thanksgiving Day that claimed the lives of five people, four of them in one family.

The dead:

WEDNESDAY ASHTABULA — David A. Hill, 26, of Ashtabula, in a two-car smashup on Ohio 193.

THURSDAY

TOLEDO — Alexandro Jarate, 21, of Toledo in a two-car accident at a near-downtown Toledo intersection.

Showdown With Saigon Set?

Nixon, Kissinger Talk

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Nixon scheduled his third meeting in as many days with Henry A. Kissinger today, possibly as a prelude to a showdown with the South Vietnamese on terms of a proposed Vietnam ceasefire.

Nixon, who flew to his Maryland mountain retreat here Sunday night after spending the weekend in New York City, arranged to confer during the afternoon with Kissinger, his chief negotiator to the secret Vietnam peace talks in Paris.

The meetings came amid speculation by administration

sources that an interruption in the Paris peace talks may mean the United States has decided to tell South Vietnam that no more concessions can be won from North Vietnam in a ceasefire agreement.

The talks, which adjourned Saturday, are scheduled to resume Dec. 4.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker met for 10 minutes today with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu in Saigon. There was no announcement on what was discussed, but one source said Bunker may have delivered a private message to Thieu from President Nixon.

Thieu's senior foreign policy adviser, Nguyen Phu Duc, was expected to arrive in Washington from Paris today or Tuesday. The White House said over the weekend that Nixon had agreed to a request from Thieu to receive Duc for discussions of the ceasefire negotiations in Paris.

Administration officials had said as late as Friday that Nixon would not meet Duc, and the apparent change of mind was regarded by other sources as significant.

The President met with Kissinger twice while in New York—for an hour late Saturday night, after Kissinger returned from Paris, and again for an hour Sunday morning.

Some observers suspected that a decision by Le Duc Tho, Hanoi's chief negotiator, to remain in Paris while Kissinger returned here for consultations indicated the main negotiating problem is between the United States and Saigon.

Administration sources said that if the talks between Kissinger and Tho had reached an in-

CINCINNATI (AP) — The American Medical Association was urged Sunday to take strong action to protect the public against a "significant problem" of alcoholism, drug-dependence and other psychiatric disorders among practicing physicians in America.

The Council on Mental Health of the AMA's Board of Trustees made the call to the AMA's policy-making House of Delegates at the opening of the organization's 26th clinical convention.

The group suggested that the number of such emotionally "sick" doctors is relatively small compared with the total number of doctors in the United States. But it is said there is "consistent" evidence that such problems exist and that occasionally they jeopardize such doctors' "accountability to the public."

And it added that one study has reported that estimates of the incidence of narcotic addiction in physicians "varies from 30 to 100 times that in the general population" — indicating that such addiction is an "occupational hazard" for physicians.

The council urged the AMA to approve a series of graduated "guidelines," short of disciplinary action, to get such "sick" doctors of various types to concede their problem, seek professional help and possibly curtail or suspend practice voluntarily.

But it also recommended that, if there is a failure from such referrals to the doctors' "peers"—including hospital staffs and medical societies—the matter "should be referred to the appropriate licensing body in the state."

That is, under this ultimate guideline, such a doctor could be faced with suspension or loss of his license.

The council further recommended that the AMA's judicial experts draft "a model law" dealing with physicians having such problems, and disseminate it to state and county medical societies for legislative action in their jurisdiction.

The council pointed out that only two states—Florida and Texas—now have "sick doctor statute" legislation.

In making the recommendations, the council called for "compassionate" toughness on the part of other doctors who might be aware of a colleague's alcoholism, drug-dependence or other psychiatric trouble. It said that, up to now, this has been the situation:

"Peer referral for help usually reveals an entrenched 'conspiracy of silence.' Physicians strongly resist recognition of the fact that any of their num-

List Of Privileges Shows Senators Even Get Free Ice

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. senators receive wallet-size copies of their electronic calendars, free ice, and speech-writing services from the Library of Congress.

They also are entitled to use plants from the Botanic Gardens for their offices, or reproductions of paintings and prints from the National Gallery of Art.

These are just a few samplings from a list of "allowances, emoluments, and privileges" available to U.S. senators and published in a new Congressional Handbook.

The 204-page handbook was prepared by the Joint Committee on Congressional Operations. There is a companion volume for House members.

The handbook notes that senators automatically receive $45,000 in group life insurance coverage at a monthly cost of $26.82. The amount is based on their salaries of $42,500 a year.

A senator's allowance for staff help, and the size of his office suite, depends on how populous a state he represents.

Senators from states with a population of over 17 million—California and New York—were allowed $558,145 a year for staff costs. Senators from states with a population of three million or less receive $311,577.

Similarly, seven-room office suites are assigned to senators from states with over 12 million people (California and New York), six-room suites to senators from states with populations of 7 to 12 million (Pennsylvania, Illinois, Texas, Michigan, Ohio and New Jersey), and five-room suites to senators from states with less than seven million.

Choice of suites is on the basis of seniority.

Senators receive allowances for stationery, postage, telephone and telegraph, travel and offices in home states. These also are based on state population and, in the case of travel, on the distance between a senator's state and Washington.

Senators are given congressional license tag and have virtually unrestricted parking privileges in Washington.

The handbook offers advice on how to keep office files and write to government officials. It even tells the location of gymnasiums in the Senate office buildings.

To have the Library of Congress prepare a speech, the senator need only provide such information as what viewpoint he wants expressed, desired length of the speech, and the occasion for giving the speech.

But there is a limit, the handbook cautions. "Term papers, master's theses, and other research requests of constituents cannot be prepared," it says.

Unwillingness To Seek Help Behind Many Heart Deaths?

CHICAGO (AP) — Many patients who die of heart attacks might be saved if they would seek medical assistance earlier, say two Maryland physicians.

Drs. Manning Feinleib and Michael J. Davidson of the National Heart and Lung Institute at Bethesda, Md., report on a survey of a Maryland suburban area of 250,000 population in the Nov. 27 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

"By far the greatest day in the care of the patient with an acute myocardial infarction was his own unwillingness to call for help," they reported.

Heart disease is the leading cause of death in the United States, and myocardial infarction accounts for the greatest percentage of these deaths. In this disease, an area of the heart muscle is damaged or killed because of an insufficient supply of blood.

Feinleib and Davidson studied the 719 recorded deaths of persons 35 to 74 years of age in Montgomery County for 1969. Of these, 257 died of coronary heart disease.

At least 155 of the heart-fatality victims died "before receiving any definitive medical care," they said.

Major factors found to be responsible for the delay were: delay in recognizing symptoms, denial of symptoms, delay in seeking medical assistance and delay in arrival at a medical facility.

The first three forms of patient delay, the researchers said, "can take from hours to days, or even weeks." The fourth is related to transportation and usually is measured in minutes.

To help shorten the delay, the physicians called for a public-education program aimed at getting heart victims to seek help as soon as they experience the first symptoms of an attack.

They also recommend development of a nationwide network of round-the-clock outpatient diagnostic centers, or cardiac checkpoints, to examine any patient who reports with symptoms which might indicate a heart attack.

FAMOUS last words . . .

Two years ago late in the winter, The Herald phone rang, and on the other end of the line was Dick Walker, Ohio State defensive backfield coach . . .

The conversation went a little like this . . .

Walker: "We understand we've been asleep in our recruiting and that there's a helluva fullback in our own back yard we haven't contacted."

The Herald: "You must be talking about Champ Henson at Teays Valley."

Walker: "That's right. Has he signed a letter of intent to go to any other school?"

The Herald: "We don't think so but we have heard he is ready to accept a scholarship at Michigan."

Walker: "What do you think of him?"

The Herald: "He's big enough and strong enough and has the desire. He'll play football for you somewhere, but he might not have the speed to play in the backfield at Ohio State."

As soon as Walker hung up the receiver on his end of the line, we called the Raymond Henson home . . . Mrs. Henson answered and we told her about the call from Ohio State . . . The story of how Wooddy Hayes snatched Champ from Michigan's grasp is now history . . .

That boy who we said might not be fast enough to play in the backfield at Ohio State is the nation's leading scorer as a sophomore . . . His 29th touchdown Saturday helped beat Michigan and is the record for the most in a single season by any Ohio State football player.

Holiday Toll Reaches 651

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The nation's death toll for the four-day Thanksgiving holiday was 638.

Rain, snow, fog and high winds in various parts of the country made driving hazardous Sunday. Up to 3 inches of snow across the Great Lakes region snarled traffic, and gale force winds blew from Massachusetts to Maine.

The Associated Press traffic log was conducted from 7 p.m. EST Wednesday until 3 a.m. EST today.

The 1972 count was slightly higher than the 1971 toll of 607 deaths but less than the 764 in 1968.

2 Hurt In Crashes On County Roads

Two people were hurt, neither seriously, in only one injury traffic accident reported by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department and the Ohio State Highway Patrol on county roads during the weekend.

The accident, investigated by Pickaway Deputy Bill Dountz, occurred 6:25 p.m. Sunday on Route 62.

According to his report, a car driven by Rodney Joslin, 18, Columbus, struck the rear of a pickup truck driven by Lewis Nibert, 59, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, inflicting heavy damage to both vehicles.

Viney Nibert, 55, and Paula Nibert, 18, both passengers in the truck, were referred to a doctor for treatment of neck and head injuries.

Joslin charged Nibert with failing to yield the right of way, claiming the pickup truck driver pulled his vehicle into the path of his car. Deputy Dountz filed no charges.

B. L. Kirkman Transferred By Du Pont

Burton L. Kirkman, 605 Garden Parkway, assistant accounting superintendent at the Circleville Du Pont plant, is being transferred to the business services division, film department, Wilmborg, Del.

Kirkman and his wife, Ruth, are the parents of three children, Janet, Sharon and Russell.

He started with the company in June of 1956 as an engineer in the Spruance Cellophane Plant, Richmond, Va. He was subsequently promoted to manufacturing control foreman, building foreman, inspection supervisor in the polyethylene unit and later shift supervisor in the same unit.

He was transferred in Sept. 1961 to the sales division, Wilmington, Del., as technical representative. In October, 1962 he was transferred back to Spruance in the polyethylene plant as assistant and then area supervisor.

In February of 1967 he was transferred to the Circleville Plant as assistant accounting superintendent.

He is a past county chairman of the Heart Fund, a member of the Community United Methodist Church, where he is chairman of the council on ministry, a member of the administrative board, a member of the finance committee, a member of the pastoral-parish relations committee and past lay leader.

ber can become ill.

"This unwillingness to speak out should be abandoned by members of hospital staffs and other colleagues of the ill practitioner, substituting, perhaps, a 'conspiracy of constructive compassion.'"

Citing some other figures to illustrate the "scope of the problem," the council said:

"... in just a decade, 140 drug-dependent physicians have been brought before their disciplinary bodies in three of the smaller states . . . Arizona, Connecticut and Oregon . . . with an equal number of physicians appearing for alcoholism and a small, but significant, number of other mental illness."

And it said that in 1958 the California State Board of Medical Examiners "estimated that at some point in their careers one per cent to two per cent of the doctors in that state abused narcotics."

The council further recommended that educational programs be developed for medical students and physicians-in-training—to emphasize "their high vulnerability to psychiatric disorders, alcoholism and drug dependence."

In this connection, the group said:

"Of particular concern for the future are the incidence of use of, and the attitude toward, psychotropic (mind-altering) substances among medical students and physicians-in-training. These young men and women progress into the area of total unsupervised responsibility for patient care—where impeccable judgment and unclouded thinking are the primary bulwarks protecting them from malpractice."

Commissioners Halt Building In Elm Grove

Pickaway County Commissioners today approved a resolution instructing prosecuting attorney Richard Gerhardt to obtain an injunction prohibiting developers of Elm Grove Subdivision in Washington Twp. from further construction of homes until county subdivision regulations are met.

Commissioners reported they have received numerous complaints recently of a lack of surface drainage in the area. The subdivision was approved in 1966 and subdivision roads have not yet been paved nor has adequate surface drainage been constructed, commissioners said today.

In other action today, the bid from Motorola for two way communications for the Sheriff's Department was accepted. It was the only bid submitted.

The bid was in the amount of $30,053, of which $22,540 will be provided by federal funds and $7,513 by county government funds.

The bid was accepted when prosecutor Richard Gerhardt ruled verbally that an objection filed by General Electric stating bid specifications prohibited them from submitting a bid was not valid.

Local Doctor Elected To AAFP Membership

Charles R. Hedges, M.D., of Circleville, has been elected to active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians, a national association of more than 31,000 family doctors. The Academy formerly was called the American Academy of General Practice.

As a member of AAFP, Dr. Charles R. Hedges will be required to complete 150 hours of continuing medical study every three years. The program, unique among national medical associations, is designed to help member physicians keep abreast of the latest scientific developments in medicine.

Founded in 1947, the AAFP is the country's second largest national medical association. It was instrumental in the establishment of a new primary specialty in family practice in 1969. The Academy's continuing education program is the foundation of eligibility for family doctors now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.

Sharp Debate Expected On AMA 'Peer Review' Plan

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sharp debate was forecast today at the current convention of the American Medical Association over who should carry the ball for American medicine on a "peer review" matter that AMA officials say stands to cost U.S. taxpayers up to $1 billion in the next five years.

The issue in controversy involves who should take the leadership in appointing new local organizations of doctors throughout the nation to be called "Professional Standards Review Organizations," or "PSRO's" for short.

These are organizations—provided for in recent Social Security legislation—which will be designed to oversee the quality and appropriateness of medical services paid for, wholly or partially, under provisions of the Social Security Act.

The PSRO's won't deal directly with costs of medical services, but some observers say the judgments of these groups will have a determining effect on provider reimbursements.

The government's Health, Education and Welfare Department is empowered to enter into agreements with PSRO organizations for their services, and the HEW secretary has until Jan. 1, 1974, to designate geographical operating areas for such groups.

Meanwhile, AMA officials say, behind-the-scenes infighting has been going on with the organization—principally involving controversy between state medical societies on the one hand and county medical societies on the other—as to who should provide the "interface" between American medicine and the government on the PSRO matter.

The Circleville City School System has initiated a new instructional program for the benefit of those children who have average intelligence but are experiencing learning problems.

This program is called the Intensive Instruction class and is taught by Mrs. Shirley Wylie. Mrs. Wylie not only has a masters' degree in special education, but she has also been trained in directive teaching techniques. She is qualified to individualize each child's instructional program as well as use positive approaches in managing social behavior.

The purpose of the intensive instruction program is to assist those children who have the ability to learn but are achieving below their ability level. Each child is evaluated to determine his specific needs and curriculum presented to meet those needs. The intensive instruction class is small in number, only the children, so instruction can be individualized.

The intensive instruction program is a short term program. No child will remain in the class for more than two years before returning to the regular classroom. A child is gradually phased back into the regular classroom when he becomes academically ready. The phasing is done so the child

Boggs-Begich Hearing Set

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — An Alaskan official has predicted a presumptive death hearing on House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana and Alaska Congressman Nick Begich will be held Dec. 11-12 in Juneau District Court.

Joe Balfie, Juneau district attorney, said Sunday that state Atty. Gen. John Havelock had asked him to contact prospective witnesses.

Balfie said persons contacted so far include participants in the extensive search which began Oct. 16, when Boggs, Begich and two others aboard a light plane disappeared en route from Anchorage to Juneau. The search was suspended last weekend.

Balfie said the hearing before Judge Bruce Monroe and a six-member jury would reach findings on all four men, including pilot Don Jozz of Fairbanks and Russell Brown of Ketchikan, a Begich aide.

Rural Area Industrial Growth Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — More industrial growth will continue in nonmetro areas which already have experienced heavy development, an Agriculture Department researcher says.

But he said, indications are that nonmetro areas which lacked industrial activity in the 1960s will see little further manufacturing come in.

New manufacturing brought 1960's to hundreds of small towns and rural communities. Rural and partly rural counties added manufacturing jobs at a rate of 4.6 per cent a year—more than double the growth rate in the metro units.

Claude C. Haren of the department's Economic Development Division says indications are the trends of the past decade have not changed direction and will continue in the 1970's. Haren's paper was summarized in the department's "The Far Index" magazine.

Haren's research showed that in the last decade, the non-metro South was a big gainer in manufacturing, adding about three-fourths of a million jobs. This represented nearly half the increase throughout the South, and about one-fourth of the national increase. Non-metro counties of the North Central region were also big gainers; they contributed another 400,000 manufacturing workers.

Rural and partly rural counties alone, mainly in the Eastern states had 900,000 more industrial jobs at the end of the decade than at the beginning. Since manufacturing in the non-metro counties grew faster than in the metro counties, the nonmetro share of all manufacturing employment climbed from 22 per cent in 1960 to 25 per cent 10 years later.

ber can become ill. "This unwillingness to speak out should be abandoned by members of hospital staffs and other colleagues of the ill practitioner, substituting, perhaps, a 'conspiracy of constructive compassion.'"

Citing some other figures to illustrate the "scope of the problem," the council said:

"... in just a decade, 140 drug-dependent physicians have been brought before their disciplinary bodies in three of the smaller states . . . Arizona, Connecticut and Oregon . . . with an equal number of physicians appearing for alcoholism and a small, but significant, number of other mental illnesses."

And it said that in 1958 the California State Board of Medical Examiners "estimated that at some point in their careers one per cent to two per cent of the doctors in that state abused narcotics."

The council further recommended that educational programs be developed for medical students and physicians-in-training to emphasize "their high vulnerability to psychiatric disorders, alcoholism and drug dependence."

In this connection, the group said:

"Of particular concern for the future are the incidence of use of, and the attitude toward, psychotropic (mind-altering) substances among medical students and physicians-in-training. These young men and women progress into the area of total unsupervised responsibility for patient care—where impeccable judgment and unclouded thinking are the primary bulwarks protecting them from malpractice."

Commissioners Halt Building In Elm Grove

Pickaway County Commissioners today approved a resolution instructing prosecuting attorney Richard Gerhardt to obtain an injunction prohibiting developers of Elm Grove Subdivision in Washington Twp. from further construction of homes until county subdivision regulations are met.

Commissioners reported they have received numerous complaints recently of a lack of surface drainage in the area. The subdivision was approved in 1966 and subdivision roads have not yet been paved nor has adequate surface drainage been constructed, commissioners said today.

In other action today, the bid from Motorola for two way communications for the Sheriff's Department was accepted. It was the only bid submitted.

The bid was in the amount of $30,053, of which $22,540 will be provided by federal funds and $7,513 by county government funds.

The bid was accepted when prosecutor Richard Gerhardt ruled verbally that an objection filed by General Electric stating bid specifications prohibited them from submitting a bid was not valid.

Local Doctor Elected To AAFP Membership

Charles R. Hedges, M.D., of Circleville, has been elected to active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians, a national association of more than 31,000 family doctors. The Academy formerly was called the American Academy of General Practice.

As a member of AAFP, Dr. Charles R. Hedges will be required to complete 150 hours of continuing medical study every three years. The program, unique among national medical associations, is designed to help member physicians keep abreast of the latest scientific developments in medicine.

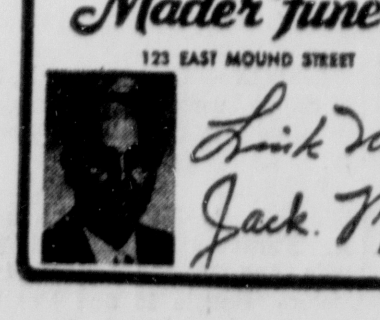

Founded in 1947, the AAFP is the country's second largest national medical association. It was instrumental in the establishment of a new primary specialty in family practice in 1969. The Academy's continuing education program is the foundation of eligibility for family physicians now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.

Sharp Debate Expected On AMA 'Peer Review' Plan

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sharp debate was forecast today at the current convention of the American Medical Association over who should carry the ball for American medicine on a "peer review" matter that AMA officials say stands to cost U.S. taxpayers up to $1 billion in the next five years.

The issue in controversy involves who should take the leadership in appointing new local organizations of doctors throughout the nation to be called "Professional Standards Review Organizations," or "PSRO's" for short.

These are organizations—provided for in recent Social Security legislation—which will be designed to oversee the quality and appropriateness of medical services paid for, wholly or partially, under provisions of the Social Security Act. The PSRO's won't deal directly with costs of medical services, but some observers say the judgments of these groups will have a determining effect on provider reimbursements.

The government's Health, Education and Welfare Department is empowered to enter into agreements with PSRO organizations for their services, and the HEW secretary has until Jan. 1, 1974, to designate geographical operating areas for such groups.

Meanwhile, AMA officials say, behind-the-scenes fighting has been going on with the organization—principally involving controversy between state medical societies on the one hand and county medical societies on the other—as to who should provide the "interface" between American medicine and the government on the PSRO matter.

City Schools Initiate New Instructional Program

The Circleville City School System has initiated a new instructional program for the benefit of those children who have average intelligence but are experiencing learning problems.

This program is called the Intensive Instruction class and is taught by Mrs. Shirley Whyte. Mrs. Whyte not only has a master's degree in special education, but she has also been trained in directive teaching techniques. She is qualified to individualize each child's instructional program as well as use positive approaches in managing social behavior.

The purpose of the intensive instruction program is to assist those children who have the ability to learn but are achieving below their ability level. Each child is evaluated to determine his specific needs and curriculum presented to meet those needs. The Intensive Instruction class is small in number, only the children, so instruction can be individualized.

The Intensive Instruction program is a short term program. No child will remain in the class for more than two years before returning to the regular classroom. A child is gradually phased back into the regular classroom when he becomes academically ready. The phasing is done so the child can be carefully evaluated to assure his success in the regular program and also to help the child adjust from a small number of children to the larger number of children.

Boggs-Begich Hearing Set

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — An Alaskan official has predicted a presumptive death hearing on House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana and Alaska Congressman Nick Begich will be held Dec. 11-12 in Juneau District Court.

Joe Balfie, Juneau district attorney, said Sunday that state Atty. Gen. John Havelock had asked him to contact prospective witnesses.

Balfie said persons contacted so far include participants in the extensive search which began Oct. 16, when Boggs, Begich and two others aboard a light plane disappeared en route from Anchorage to Juneau. The search was suspended last weekend.

Balfie said the hearing before Judge Bruce Monroe and a six-member jury would reach findings on all four men, including pilot Don Jonz of Fairbanks and Russell Brown of Ketchikan, a Begich aide.

The panel can rule that the four men cannot be found alive and could order a coroner to sign death certificates. It was not known whether a verdict of presumptive death in Alaska would be recognized for Boggs in Louisiana. Both congressmen were re-elected Nov. 7. If they are certified dead, new elections will be held to fill the vacant seats in the House of Representatives.

Rural Area Industrial Growth Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — More industrial growth will continue in nonmetro areas which already have experienced heavy development, an Agriculture Department researcher says.

But he said, indications are that nonmetro areas which lacked industrial activity in the 1960s will see little further manufacturing come in.

New manufacturing brought 1960's to hundreds of small towns and rural communities. Rural and partly rural counties added manufacturing jobs at a rate of 4.6 per cent a year—more than double the growth rate in the metro units.

Claude C. Haren of the department's Economic Development Division says indications are the trends of the past decade have not changed direction and will continue in the 1970's. Haren's paper was summarized in the department's "The Far Index" magazine.

Haren's research showed that in the last decade, the non-metro South was a big gainer in manufacturing, adding about three-fourths of a million jobs. This represented nearly half the increase throughout the South, and about one-fourth of the national increase. Non-metro counties of the North Central region were also big gainers; they contributed another 400,000 manufacturing workers.

Rural and partly rural counties alone, mainly in the Eastern states had 900,000 more industrial jobs at the end of the decade than at the beginning. Since manufacturing in the non-metro counties grew faster than in the metro counties, the nonmetro share of all manufacturing employment climbed from 22 per cent in 1960 to 25 per cent 10 years later.

Holiday Toll Reaches 651

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The nation's death toll for the four-day Thanksgiving holiday was 638.

Rain, snow, fog and high winds in various parts of the country made driving hazardous Sunday. Up to 3 inches of snow across the Great Lakes region snarled traffic, and gale force winds blew from Massachusetts to Maine.

The Associated Press traffic log was conducted from 7 p.m. EST Wednesday until 3 a.m. EST today.

The 1972 count was slightly higher than the 1971 toll of 607 deaths but less than the 764 in 1968.

Plenty Of Small Coins

To supply stores and other marts of trade with the change needed when Yule shopping really gets underway is a gigantic undertaking, but the U.S. Mint seems to have solved the production problem that once plagued it.

Several years ago there was a shortage of small change for weeks in November and December. Banks couldn't supply their customers with enough to keep their cash registers functioning. There was much griping.

But not now. There is so much change available that if every Christmas shopper ventured out supplied with nothing but bills of large denominations, stores would be able to change them. Some might be compelled to make hurry-up calls to their banks.

But the Mint is right to rush shipments. It still has hundreds of millions of the new halves which it has been unable to unload. For some reason, these still do not circulate freely, though they are available to anyone who wants them.

Perhaps next year will be different, but this year there is no shortage of change to expedite Christmas shopping.

Transit Loses To Parks

Transportation is out and environment is in, if the results of scattered band referendums are a valid clue.

New York State overwhelmingly approved a $1.5-billion bond issue to improve the state's environment. At the last election the state had rejected a $2.5-billion transportation bond issue.

This year it was New Jersey's turn to defeat a transportation bond issue. The $650-million proposal included $240 million for public transit facilities, but it was rejected largely because the larger amount remaining would have gone into highways.

Florida's voters came out strongly for a $240-million bond issue that will enable the state to buy (and prevent development of) thousands of acres of land that is either environmentally endangered or needed for recreational uses.

The vote against spending state funds on preparations for the Winter Olympics in Colorado was also based on environmental considerations, complicated by a spreading epidemic of anti-growthitis.

It all points to an era in which there will be plenty of land reserved for recreation, but no way to get there.

Magic Figure

When the Dow Jones Industrial average finally hit 1,000 the other day and stayed there, it was quite an event for those who believe in the Dow theory. Not everyone does.

The Dow, which is based on 30 stocks, has been around for 76 years, and it has seen its ups and downs. It took the Dow 60 years to get to 500. It started at 40, promptly dropped to 8 and was 381 when the 1929 stock market crash sent it back to the low 40s in 1932.

Sometimes the index mirrors the general performance of the exchange, sometimes it doesn't. Investment counselors, the ones who survived the recession of a year ago, are talking up other indices, while generally being careful not to belittle the Dow.

But the DJIA will probably survive the market's ups and downs in the future as it has in the past. After all, the performance of 30 of the "better" stocks is important, and the Dow has passed the 1,000 mark.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

How often is it necessary to take a throat culture? Our 4-year-old boy gets frequent colds and it seems that every time we go to the doctor a culture is made.

Mrs. V.R., Tenn.

Dear Mrs. R.: The frequent taking of throat cultures seems to have taken on a social rather than a medical aspect.

As a doctor who lives in a medical world of acute infections, I find that I rarely need a throat culture to establish a diagnosis or to determine the exact germ responsible.

Let me immediately emphasize that this is not a testimonial to my own ability to recognize a germ by simply looking at the throat. Rather do I mean that, within the framework of the art and science of medicine, my judgment is based on past experience.

In addition to clinical judgment there is the comforting fact that many of the modern antibiotics kill many germs.

A trial with these antibiotics can quickly establish their value against offending bacteria.

This does not mean that the throat culture is not a valuable medical tool. When the course of an infection is not typical and where it is suspected that an unusual germ is the cause, the throat culture is of extreme value.

Then it is possible to isolate that germ and, by laboratory means, determine a more specific antibiotic to destroy it.

It is not commonly known that, even during the state of perfect health, a culture of the throat will reveal a variety of bacteria (or germs), some of which would unnecessarily terrify patients if the names were given to them.

The streptococcus, the staphylococcus, and even the causative germ for diphtheria and tuberculosis may all be lying benignly on the surface of the mouth and throat.

In addition, there are many other germs and fungi, all living together in a blissful state. The force of our body resistance keeps these germs from multiplying and causing illness.

The germs and the fungi live in harmony until their relationship is upset. Sucking on antibiotic lozenges may be one of the causes for upsetting this healthy balance. Then the fungus begins to flourish and shows signs of its rapid growth in the mouth.

Antibiotics, too, sometimes upset the bacterial balance. It is for this reason that some patients develop rectal, vaginal, and intestinal side effects from some antibiotic sensitivity.

Doctors are aware of this and therefore limit the use of antibiotics that they prescribe. Patients too often put subtle demands on doctors for a prescription and a "shot" of an antibiotic.

The uninformed may feel that without such treatment they are not being given the full benefit of modern medicine. Antibiotics do not affect virus infections. Viruses are the cause

Government Is Polluter

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The big issues of the Sixties have faded with the Vietnamization, such as it is, of the war in Southeast Asia. But the environmentalist issue still packs a punch, which is all to the good.

With people rightly concerned about the air they breathe and the water in which they swim, it is important that the main sources of pollution be identified. The current fashion—witness the cartoons in which stinking fish carcasses float in the clogged and turbid streams near belching factory chimneys—is to blame private industry for saddling the taxpayer with the "external" costs of pollution. Well, private industry has not, historically, been particularly concerned with mitigating unpleasant "neighborhood effects" that may properly be charged to it. We have been a production-minded people, and job creation has come first with us.

This does not mean, however, that the free economic system has been the major polluter. That dubious distinction, as Professor Hans Sennholz of Grove City College in Pennsylvania has pointed out, belongs to government itself.

Sennholz proves his case with a five-point reference. One, some 25 percent of the land in the U.S. is government-owned, with hundreds of government installations (military, power plants, et cetera) discharging wastes into the environment. Two, most of our faulty waste disposal systems are operated by local governing bodies. Three, our lakes and streams are "publicly" owned, which means that the Federal Government should be making and enforcing the rules covering their use. Four, the highway system, which is subsidized by Federal and local authorities, offers free access to the automobile, which amounts to favoring individual polluters over the relatively clean electric and Diesel locomotives operated by the heavily taxed railroads. Finally, our politically administered zoning systems, which create suburban sprawl, add greatly to our dependence on the automobile.

Zeroing in on a specific instance, Professor Sennholz challenges government to clean up Lake Erie before it becomes a virtually "dead" lake. The biggest polluters in the lake are the municipal sewer districts of several big cities. Ideally, according to Sennholz, the sewage disposal facilities of the big cities should be turned over to private industry for profitable exploitation of different types of waste. Properly treated sewage makes good organic fill. This, of course, would not wholly serve to purify the lake. It would not keep farmers from dressing their fields with expensive commercial fertilizers that drain into streams feeding the lake, thereby causing the growth of algae and taking needed oxygen away from fish.

But, as Professor Sennholz might have said in further support of his case, the use of commercial fertilizers has been vastly intensified by our Department of Agriculture. Subsidies of one kind or another for acreage limitation have been used by farmers to pay for over-fertilization of their remaining productive acres, to the detriment not only of small ponds but the bigger lake itself. Instead of turning to "socialism" to solve our pollution problems, Sennholz thinks we ought to strengthen our private property system. By taking away the "fruits of poverty" through excessive taxation, government deprives industry of funds needed to clean up their own manufacturing processes. Admittedly, the difficulties of measuring an assessing the responsibility for pollution are problems in themselves. Professor Sennholz would have private, non-industrial property owners turn to our court system, with its injunctive powers, to compel industry to make a proper study of its external costs.

NEW YORK (AP) — Every-one says at one time or another, "If I just had it all to do over again, I'd..."

Everyone thinks he knows what he'd do if he had a second go-round with life. But since we don't know too many people who have had that experience, we don't know for sure what they'd do.

Personally, I feel I'd do again some of the things I'd done before, avoid repeating others, and do some things I hadn't got around to doing the first time.

For example, I doubt that I'd ever —

Commit bigamy, murder or parsimony.

Learn to take snuff or chew tobacco.

Sit on a flagpole or participate in a six-day bike race.

Go to more than one war.

Become a president of the United States.

Drink a martini through a straw.

Smoke cigarettes.

Covet my neighbor's wife.

Fill a plate more than once at any single meal.

Deliberately break another man's rice bowl.

Those are the things I wouldn't do if I had it all to do over again. What are the things, old or new, that I would want to do? Well, I'd at least try to — Learn to drive a motor car, fly a plane, sail a boat.

Feel at ease in one modern language besides English.

Be well known in my neighborhood for having at least one

They'll Do It Every Time

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Everyone says at one time or another, "If I just had it all to do over again, I'd..."

Everyone thinks he knows what he'd do if he had a second go-round with life. But since we don't know too many people who have had that experience, we don't know for sure what they'd do.

Personally, I feel I'd do again some of the things I'd done before, avoid repeating others, and do some things I hadn't got around to doing the first time.

For example, I doubt that I'd ever —

Commit bigamy, murder or parsimony.

Learn to take snuff or chew tobacco.

Sit on a flagpole or participate in a six-day bike race.

Go to more than one war.

Become a president of the United States.

Drink a martini through a straw.

Smoke cigarettes.

Covet my neighbor's wife.

Fill a plate more than once at any single meal.

Return in the form of a woman.

Go into politics.

Study more than one dead language.

Get a Ph.D. degree.

Sell or buy stock in oil wells or gold mines.

Believe everything I read about Santa Claus or had been told by Uncle Sam.

Hold a grudge against a friend. Spend a single night in jail or two nights in a row in Hollywood.

Waste much money on hair-growing tonics.

Find strange blondes at cocktail parties exciting.

Deliberately break another man's rice bowl.

Those are the things I wouldn't do if I had it all to do over again. What are the things, old or new, that I would want to do? Well, I'd at least try to — Learn to drive a motor car, fly a plane, sail a boat.

From the age of six months on, see my dentist twice a year.

Travel through at least 101 countries.

Feel at ease in one modern language besides English.

Be well known in my neighborhood for having at least one recognized virtue. Spend more time gawking than talking, thinking than drinking.

Stay awake all one moonlit night in the Taj Mahal.

Either marry one red-haired girl or have romantic affairs with three or four.

Do something sometime that somehow would cause someone somewhere to name a small library after me.

Learn to play well a musical instrument—any one except the harp.

Call in a fire alarm in time to save a life.

Meet more interesting oddballs and fewer dull snobs and overstuffed shirts.

Find some way to exercise my muscles more and my vanity less.

Inherit as much money as I could as early in life as possible.

Abby Inspires Volunteer Workers

DEAR ABBY: I just heard you speak to a packed ballroom in St. Petersburg, Fla., for Goodwill and I want to thank you for saying, "I've been doing volunteer work all my life!"

Oh, Abby, how I pray that because YOU do it, others will be inspired to do it, too.

If everyone, young, old, rich, educated or not, would give one day a month (or even an hour), it would make such a happy difference in their lives as givers and would also enrich the programs of civic, religious and "helping" organizations tremendously.

Florida is well known for its retirement advantages, yet all over St. Petersburg men and women are sitting alone in self-pity because they are just plain bored. (As they say, "waiting to die.") That's pathetic, considering how much easier they could make life for someone who is "waiting to live.")

And since when is "age" an excuse for not giving time or talent? Many star volunteers are in their 60s and 70s.

Today, so many of our young people are talking "LOVE." Well, kids, how about putting the "bod" where the mouth is? Nursing homes, hospitals, mental institutions, rehabilitation centers, etc. could use volunteers.

Abby, you mentioned that Goodwill needs volunteers to write letters for the handicapped, take them shopping, to doctors, or therapy, and even to an occasional movie or for a drive. Volunteers can answer the telephone, type, file, address envelopes, or teach simple English pronunciation to those with speech defects. The list is overwhelming.

I could go on and on. I only wanted to thank you from the bottom of my heart for encouraging people to do for others.

INSPIRED

DEAR INSPIRED: Your letter is far more inspirational than what I said in St. Pete'sburg. Thank you for writing.

Ohio Commodores Not Like Kentucky Colonels

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Commodores don't like to be compared to Kentucky's Colonels.

Glen Allen, secretary of the Association of Ohio Commodores, insists there's "a big difference."

"We have to give of ourselves to help the state. The colonels just get a title and something to hang on the wall," Allen says.

Former Gov. James A. Rhodes initiated the Commodores about four years ago after a large group of Ohio businessmen traveled with him on a trade mission to Europe to open markets for Ohio exports. Rhodes picked the name "Commodores" in honor of Ohio's historic Naval hero, Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry.

Since that time, he and his successor, Gov. John J. Gilligan, have received the services of the Commodores in Ohio's constant search for new industry and in a number of social and charitable areas. The group now numbers about 360, Allen said.

The organization has at least two state meetings a year, and they are divided into five regional areas which meet about five times a year, he said.

The organization's latest project is a $60,000 restoration of the governor's cabinet room which one Commodore said over the years has been allowed to take on the appearance of "a bus station." They plan to redecorate with 19th Century style furniture and make other improvements designed to restore the room's tradition and dignity.

Otherwise, the Commodores help with a campaign to raise funds for crippled children and a number of other charitable causes. "Our purpose is to work for the betterment of the State of Ohio and all its citizens," Allen explains.

Democrats hungry for legislative patronage for a dozen years are being reminded that it brings problems, too. "I'm really having to juggle some people around," says House Speaker-designate A. G. Lacione of Bellaire. His comment came last week as he and other leaders of the new Democratic majority caucus sought to agree on committee chairmen for the upcoming legislative session.

One example was a need to choose between long-time Reps. Myrl Shoemaker of Bourneville, Ross County, and William Hinig of New Philadelphia. Each had credentials to be chairman of the House Finance Committee, both having served as minority members of the important committee the past several years. The nod went to Shoemaker apparently on the basis of his seniority in the House. Shoemaker will be starting his eighth term, Hinig his fifth.

Several other committee chairmen are yet to be named and Hinig is a virtual certainty to get one of the posts, possibly the Committee on Insurance, Utilities, and Financial Institutions. Hinig is a public accountant in private life.

Lacione had named about six committee chairmen last week when he decided to quit and go home for the Thanksgiving weekend. He said he would have more announcements "the first of next week."

November election by Republican Donna Pope of Parma.

Both parties over the years have observed a policy of filling patronage jobs with their defeated candidates.

Views On TV - Radio

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — As of the second Monday in January, the ABC television network will replace the nightly "Dick Cavett Show" with a barrage of goodies it hopes will lure late-hour viewers from NBC and CBS.

The offerings will go out under the title of "ABC Wide World of Entertainment," start at 11:30 p.m. EST and finish 90 minutes later each weeknight. But Cavett isn't completely disappearing from the scene.

He'll be part of a complex and potentially rewarding entertainment package containing these elements each month:

—A week of Jack Paar, who is returning to regular late-night hours as host of "Jack Paar Tonight," a show in the same mold as the "Tonight" show he ran for NBC from 1957 to early 1962.

—A week of what ABC calls the new "Dick Cavett Show." It'll be the same type of show he does now, but he'll have more time to prepare it.

—Two weeks — spotted fore and aft of the Cavett week — of taped drama, original comedy, occasional Friday night rock concerts and weekday on-location specials about off-beat people, subjects and places.

The first of the special "Wide World" shows began sort of a shakedown cruise last week at the onset of Cavett's scheduled three-week vacation from the ABC airwaves.

They included two nights of comedy revues and a taped Friday night rock concert starring, among other folks, Alice Cooper, a boy. The specials will continue until Cavett returns to work Dec. 12.

His show will be replaced in the first week of January by five specials. Monday will have a comedy revue about 1972, Tuesday a George Carlin epic, Wednesday a look at 1972 by newsmen Howard K. Smith and Harry Reasoner and Thursday a country and Western music trip with Roger Miller. Friday will involve a comedy forecast for 1973.

The "Wide World" begins in earnest Jan. 8, when Paar and a regular on his show, Peggy Cass, begin their first week. Cavett's week will begin Jan. 22.

The guiding light of "Wide World" is Michael D. Eisner, ABC's young vice president for program development. He's been pulling the thing together since July in the wake of corporate soul-searching caused by the relatively low ratings of the Cavett show.

Does "Wide World" portend a gradual edging-out of Cavett? "Not at all," Eisner said. "We think that putting his show on a one-week-a-month basis will do very positive things for him. He will now only do those shows that he personally has great interest in."

"He won't be forced to do 260 shows a year. So he will do five great shows in one week and then have three weeks to put together five other great shows."

DEAR ABBY: Your letter is far more inspirational than what I said in St. Pete's-burg. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: I'm having problems with my husband. I am 23 and he is 29, and we've been married for five years and have three children. He knows I don't like it when he makes a fuss over other girls, but he does it just to make me jealous.

Another problem is that he forces himself on me and if I struggle he ties me to the bed with ropes. If he wasn't my husband this would be classified as rape. Abby, things just can't go on like this. When he's nice, he's sweet as sugar, but when he's mean he frightens me half to death.

He also has a seizure disorder which he is being treated for. We are on welfare because of his sickness, but he cashes his welfare check and gives all the money to me, so I can't complain about that. Can you help me?

LOTS OF PROBLEMS
DEAR ABBY: If you haven't discussed your husband's sadistic behavior with his doctor, you should. The Welfare Information Service can put you in touch with a Family Service Agency. They offer family counseling, and the fee is nominal. If you can't persuade your husband to go with you-go alone, but DO go.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is not knowing how to introduce my boy friend. He is a doctor. Do I say, "Mrs. Brown, I would like you to meet Dr. Smith"? Or do I just omit the "doctor" and introduce him as "Mister"?

I always feel so foolish introducing him as "Doctor." It sounds like I'm bragging.

UNSURE
DEAR ABBY: He has earned the title, and should be introduced as "Dr." Not "Mister." But if you are self-conscious about it, simply introduce him as "John Smith."

Ohio Commodores Not Like Kentucky Colonels

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Commodores don't like to be compared to Kentucky's Colonels.

Glen Allen, secretary of the Association of Ohio Commodores, insists there's "a big difference."

"We have to give of ourselves to help the state. The colonels just get a title and something to hang on the wall," Allen says.

Former Gov. James A. Rhodes initiated the Commodores about four years ago after a large group of Ohio businessmen traveled with him on a trade mission to Europe to open markets for Ohio exports. Rhodes picked the name "Commodores" in honor of Ohio's historic Naval hero, Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry.

Several other committee chairmen are yet to be named and Hinig is a virtual certainty to get one of the posts, possibly the Committee on Insurance, Utilities, and Financial Institutions. Hinig is a public accountant in private life.

Lancione had named about six committee chairmen last week when he decided to quit and go home for the Thanksgiving weekend. He said he would have more announcements "the first of next week."

Democrats also are pondering the various jobs in the leaders and clerk's offices which have been occupied by Republicans since the last time the Democrats controlled the House in 1961.

The biggest job is that of executive secretary of the House which under Republicans, has paid in excess of $20,000 a year. Among those mentioned for the post is Rep. John V. McCarthy of Youngstown who did not seek re-election and then lost out in a bid for Mahoning County treasurer.

Another lame duck Democrat, Rep. Walter A. Rutkowski of Maple Heights, has been mentioned for the sergeant-at-arms post now held by Republican Robert Evans of Columbus, a former member of the House. Rutkowski was defeated in the November election by Republican Donna Pope of Parma.

Both parties over the years have observed a policy of filling patronage jobs with their defeated candidates.

Old-Fashioned Look And Subtle Colors Highlight Wedding Of Miss Deborah Young, William Chandler

Ruffles trimmed the ivory satin gown worn by Miss Deborah Jo Young for her marriage Nov. 4 to Mr. William Joseph Chandler.

The couple exchanged wedding vows and rings during the candlelight service before the altar of the St. Philip's Episcopal Church performed by Rev. David Allardice.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Young, Route 1, Circleville and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chandler, Route 2, Milford.

Vows were exchanged by the couple before an altar decorated with vases of white gladioli and pompon chrysanthemums accented with peacock feathers. Emerald palms and two seven-branch candelabra completed the decor. Bows of white satin ribbon and green fern adorned the aisle pews.

Preceding the ceremony, a program of nuptial music was presented by organist, Mrs. Paul Teegar.

The gown worn by the bride was romantic, old-fashioned style created by her and her mother. Of ivory sate-peau, it had a flowing swing skirt edged with a wide full ruffle of ivory re-embroidered peau d'ange French lace. The bodice featured a high-standing lace collar and a sweetheart yoke edged with more lace ruffling. Full bishop sleeves ended above sheer snug-fitting lace cuffs, finished with tiny ivory buttons.

Enhancing the dress was a full ivory sate-peau bustle and an apron-like swag of peau d'ange lace which ended over the bustle in the back. The bride completed the old-fashioned look with a high crowned hat covered in the ivory sate-peau with handmade roses of different sizes adorning the brim. The hat was heavily veiled and ended in a floor-length train.

Ankle-strap shoes of ivory satin, trimmed with satin rosebuds, an antique amethyst brooch and a colonial bouquet of white sweetheart roses and pompon chrysanthemums, with fern and baby's breath as accent, completed the bride's costume.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Frank Vavrock, sister of the bride. Maid of honor was Miss Jane Schick of Canton.

Serving as bridesmaids were Mrs. David Harless, Lucasville, a sister of the groom Mrs. Doug Good, Norfolk, Va., cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Harry Rubin, Circleville.

MRS. WILLIAM JOSEPH CHANDLER

All the attendants wore identically styled gowns in different shades ranging from a pale mauve to deep rust.

The gowns were of a double knit fabric styled with a long swing skirt ending in a full self-fabric ruffle. A low round neckline, and long sleeves edged with ivory lace ruffling styled the bodice which had tiny covered buttons in a row down the front. The attendants completed their look with a veiled pill box hats covered to match their dresses. The eye veil was caught at the back of the hat with one large matching fabric rose.

Each wore an ivory carved rose pendant necklace, a gift of the bride, and carried a colonial bouquet of pompon chrysanthemums to match her dress.

Flower girl was Miss Shannon Vavrock, niece to the bride. Beige satin was styled with a high standing collar trimmed in lace, short, puffed sleeves and a full skirt ending with a wide, lace-trimmed ruffle for the young girl's gown. The bodice was a lace trimmed ruffle forming a sweetheart yoke and she wore a cameo necklace as accent, a gift of the bride. She scattered petals from a basket of pompon chrysanthemums and bouquets of the bridesmaids' bouquets.

Master David Pinson, Lucasville, a cousin to the groom, served as ring bearer. He was dressed in beige satin knickers with a belted jacket. The jacket featured a wide round yoke filled with lace ruffling and long sleeves with a lace ruffle edge. He carried an ivory satin pillow encrusted with lace and ribbon and one satin handmade rosebud.

Mr. Carl Eckhart, Lucasville, served his brother-in-law as best man. Ushers were Mr. Mike Majors, Athens; Mr. David Harless, Lucasville, brother-in-law of the groom; Mr. Frank Vavrock, Circleville, brother-in-law of the bride; and Mr. Harry Rubin, Circleville. The best man and ushers wore brown gabardine while the groom wore brown crushed velvet.

matching silver, gray and rose brocade sleeveless jacket. She wore coordinating silver accessories.

Mrs. Chandler selected a two-piece outfit which featured a formal length white knit skirt worn with a mauve colored satin blouse with long sleeves and a ruffle down the front. With this she wore a velvet burgundy jacket and matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink sweetheart roses and tufted pink carnations.

A champagne buffet reception was held following the ceremony at the Pickaway Arms. Serving as hostesses were: Miss Sherry Bumgarner, Circleville; Miss Mary Lynn Comt, and Miss Mary Zuhary, both of Toledo; and Miss Patty Ryan, Upper Arlington. Mrs. Carl Eckhart, Lucasville, sister of the groom, served as guest book attendant.

Tables were decorated with fall color chrysanthemums. The bride's table held a five-tier cake surrounded by greenery flanked by pink candles in crystal holders. The ivory-iced cake was topped with a cherub surrounded by pink sweetheart roses and miniature pink and white carnations.

Music for the evening was provided by Mr. Roger Allen, soloist, and Mrs. Martha Hohenstein, on piano.

For a wedding trip to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the bride chose a three-piece double knit black and white suit with matching accessories. The couple now resides at Route 1, Circleville.

Are you tired of plain, ordinary food? Are hamburgers coming out of your ears. Is the smell of pizza starting to irritate your brain? Do French fries make you shudder?

We asked some students around TV: "What are some of the unusual things you enjoy eating?" We came up with some unusual answers.

Here are some of them: peanut butter and sour pickles, mustard sandwiches, cream cheese on raisin bread, potato chips in sandwich spreads, mustard for chip dip, eggs with steak sauce, Fritos and mustard sandwiches, jello on soda crackers, and bread with coffee and milk.

Try a few of these oddities to see if you don't like them yourself.

Youngsters Enact 'Laws' To Govern 2nd Graders

LARGO, Fla. (AP) — A law banning the lifting of girls' dresses has been enacted at Boudier Elementary School, where arrest warrants are handed out for hair-pulling, talking in class and throwing food.

Thirty-three such statutes are on the books in Tom Hackenberry's second-grade classroom, where the store detective turned teacher is bringing the long arm of the law into the study of social sciences.

A court system has been established with pupils, aged 6 to 8, acting as judges, prosecutors, defense counsels and police.

"This court study has been very effective in curbing school offenses, and students are learning respect for the law," Hackenberry said.

The worst punishment is to be sentenced to go to the principal's office, he added.

A note to the parents, being kept in from recess and missing art class are among other punishments doled out in the classroom court.

"We took a trip to the Largo Municipal Court last week," Hackenberry said. "The children ... were impressed by the Phantom squadrons which have either returned to the United States or have been reassigned in the Pacific theater.

The A-7D is a single-seat, single-engine attack fighter commonly used for close air support and air interdiction.

Man Leaves $1.5 Million; Ran Saloon

CASTELLA, Calif. (AP) — Mike Padula, who ran a saloon in this small northern California town for much of his life, has left $1.5 million to a sister and her two daughters whom he never met.

The inheritance is in Lucky Stores supermarket stock. It will be split equally between the sister, Mrs. Wesley Gray Jr. of Monroe, Mich., and her two daughters, according to attorney Howard Jones.

Padula, 78 and a bachelor, also owned an undetermined amount of property that could be worth another $1.5 million, Jones said Friday.

No one seemed to know for sure how Padula amassed the fortune. He came to Castella in 1919, and his first job was as a busboy.

Padula died Nov. 4 and left instructions that his body lie in state in his saloon for a wake. It did. The long painting of scantily clad women behind the bar was draped in black while Padula was on view for an hour in a 500-pound copper casket.

James Padula, a brother, said at the funeral that Mike had not contacted or seen any of his 11 living brothers or sisters in 55 years.

Vinton County Heavily Hit By Vietnam War Losses

By KENNETH L. DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

Vinton war memories come easily in McArthur, and in the surrounding hills of Vinton County, smallest and poorest in Ohio. Thirteen Vinton County sons died in Vietnam, a heavy harvest among 9,420 people.

"They didn't have enough money to go to college and keep on going so they wouldn't get caught in the draft," said Postmaster T. R. Boring.

"If you're going to draft kids, it's necessary to go off somewhere and fight, then every kid ought to be drafted equally."

The draft caught 222 in Vinton County — not counting the boys who enlisted.

That was the bone stuck in many Vinton County throats as a ceasefire neared — the nagging feeling that more of their boys might have come home if the draft had been without exceptions.

"Even so," said Boring, "I would say Vinton County is hawkish. Most people around here think that if you're going so get into a war then you ought to win it."

"Oh, the county knows it's lost a lot of kids," said Mrs. Gerry Frye, who runs the weekly Vinton Courier, "don't think they don't, but he's right. That's what I hear."

Nothing looked less warlike than McArthur and its 1,543 citizens. High school kids slipped into Gorsuch's Drug Store for a coke, screeching as Gene Barnes and John Perry and Tom Peacock and Roy Robinson and John Goodwin may have done in their day.

Middle-aged housewives, bundled against the chill wind blowing down the Hocking River valley, hurried by with a glance at the teenage horse-play. Kids are to be treasured in Vinton County. The population is a quarter less than 30 years back.

None looked at the Marine recruiting posters in front of the small Vinton County Courthouse, or its copper statue to the Civil War dead.

That's where it all began, at the courthouse, where SPC William A. Maxwell comes over a couple of times a week from Athens to recruit. The first of the 13 was Virgil Griffy, 21-year-old farm boy from nearby Creola. He enlisted for three years in 1962, and died of wounds a month before he was due out in December, 1965.

But, blackest of all was 1969. In three weeks McArthur lost three — Marine PFC Goodwin, 21, on March 19; Army Staff Sgt. Rex F. Church, 26, on March 23, and 1st Lt. Barnes, 25, on April 11.

"Oh, I'm bitter, sure, I'm bitter," said Mrs. Ross Goodwin, mother of John Goodwin. "I have only one consolation. He wanted to go. He had no fear about it. He thought it was the thing to do. I have that to think about."

The 1969 toll reached five. PFC Leslie Reynolds, 23, fourth of eight McArthur casualties, was killed in action in September, and a month later Sgt. Keither, Allen Patterson, 20, of Allensville, died in his tank at Quang Tri.

Community anger over what Vinton saw as draft inequities ran high in those days, but it was a street-corner, living room ire. Publicly it spent itself in a few letters to editors, to congressmen, to draft officials.

Ministers preached no sermons on that anger, nor did the local weekly editorialize, yet it was not for lack of concern. In shrinking Vinton County nearly everyone knows everyone else, or is related by blood or marriage.

"Gene Barnes?" said Postmaster Boring. "Yeah, I knew him. He was married to my niece." He pointed to slight middle-aged man coming through the Post Office door. "That's judge Wade Lohr. He's Gene's stepfather."

Judge Lohr dropped a letter into the Air Mail slot. "I think everyone agrees it's a useless war, that we're not getting anywhere, and that even if we're losing face we ought to be pulling out and keeping our boys at home," he said.

"Five? I thought it was more than that in 1969. It seemed to me it was more. It's been pretty rough."

Lt. Barnes, one of two college graduates among the lost 13, was a career officer, a famed high school fullback in McArthur and one of the popular boys in town. He was graduated from old McArthur high school in 1962.

The 1969 graduating class of what is now Vinton County Consolidated High School, only one in the county, put up a simple bronze plaque in the gymnasium, without fuss or ceremony. A handful stood around while someone fastened the plaque to the wall.

Dave Bolender is high school principal now, but he was the football coach for Goodwin, Sgt. Thomas E. F. Peacock, 21-year-old McArthur boy killed in 1970, and SP5 Roy R. Robinson, 20, killed in action in 1968.

"They were good boys," he said. "We had a 7-3 record that year. When I look at the picture of that team, it's hard to realize they're gone."

He stopped to give two boys some grass seed and instructions about reseeding the football field.

"There's more than those boys to worry about when I look at that team picture," he said. "Some of the other boys are over there still."

Bolender walked down the hall to the gymnasium. He gazed up at the plaque. Girls of the late afternoon physical education class milled around while a girl tried to do a flip and failed. Giggles chorused shortly. Bolender turned back to his office.

A few village blocks away Mrs. Francis Peacock talked about her son, Tom, killed by a sniper bullet a month before he was due out. "I'm not bitter. I've had to figure it was just one of those things."

"I'm glad the war may be coming to some sort of end and I'm glad for those who did make it back."

She sighed. "It seemed an awful lot were taken. I think most of the Vinton County boys who were drafted went to Vietnam. Why, my husband's sister has eight boys. They were all drafted and they all went to Vietnam, and none of them was hurt."

The chill had deepened on the streets. The few villagers abroad headed away from the center of town, walking briskly.

Mrs. Frye watched the stragglers from the Courier window. "I don't think they're going to get all excited by a cease-fire," she said.

"They'll feel glad it's come, sure, but I think they're just fed up to here." She swept the edge of her hand across her throat.

"This is a conservative county," said Boring, a Democrat. "It's Nixon country. You know the President's grandfather came from here? Yeah, he lived here, went to Whittier, Calif., named Francis, or something."

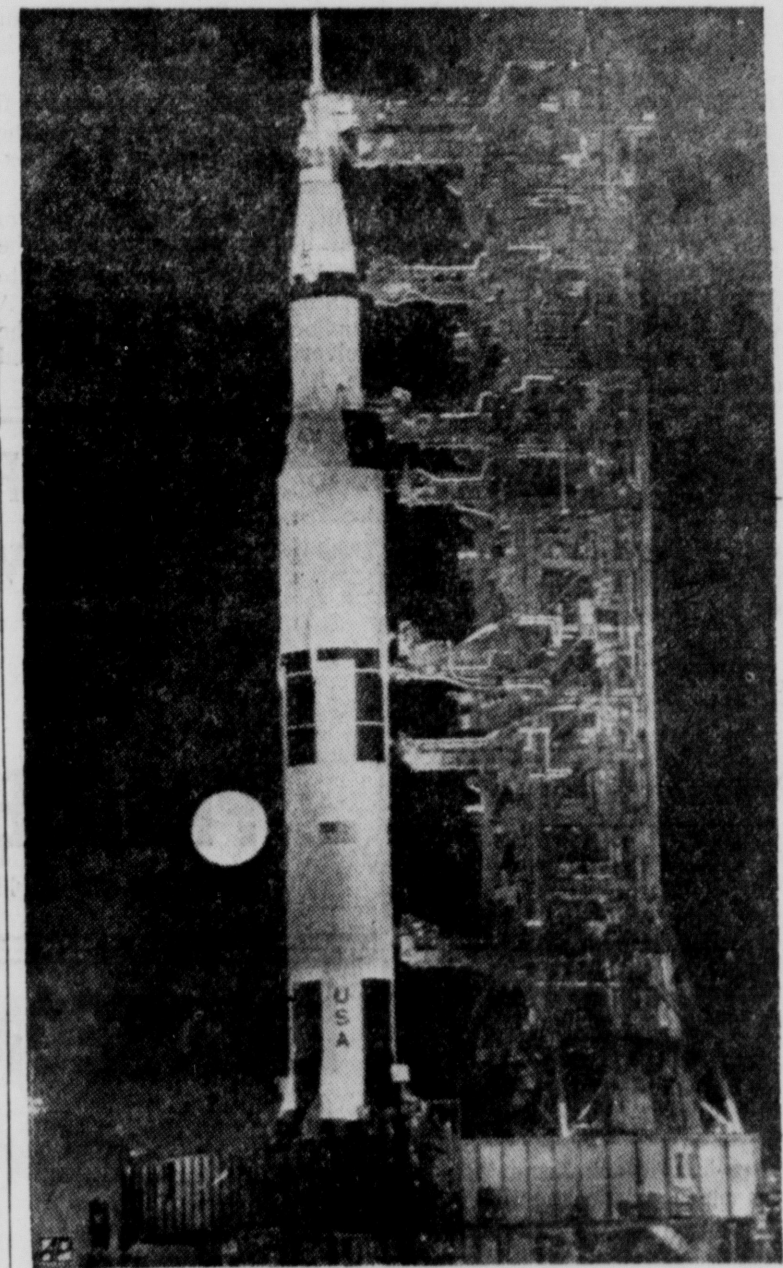

Boring weighed a letter and sold an 8-cent stamp. "Amnesty," he said, "that killed (Sen. George) McGovern in this county. Amnesty." It sounded like a dirty word.

Vinton County has had many a brush with war in its 122-year history. It was only 10 years old when the Civil War began, but sent its sons. Even the county seat was martially named — for Gen. Duncan McArthur, an ancestor of Gen. Douglas McArthur.

Just outside the town, on a slope overlooking State Route 93, Elk Cemetery bristled with the flags on service graves. Thirty of them were from the sacrifices of World War II. Most of the county's 13 Vietnam victims lie there, too, along with the six dead of the Korean War.

"You bet your life this county's bitter," said Mrs. Frye. "God knows best," said Mrs. Peacock. "God took him and it must have been for his good."

She hesitated. "I haven't told many people this, but even when Tom was a baby I had this feeling I wouldn't be able to keep him. 'God knows best,' she said.

APOLLO 17 AND THE MOON — A full moon breaks through the clouds alongside the Apollo 17 moon rocket poised at Cape Kennedy, Fla. The service gantry has been rolled away so that launch team could run a fuel test. The flight to the moon is scheduled for launch Dec. 6.

Vinton County Heavily Hit By Vietnam War Losses

By KENNETH L. DAVIS

Associated Press Writer
Vietnam war memories come easily in McArthur, and in the surrounding hills of Vinton County, smallest and poorest in Ohio. Thirteen Vinton County sons died in Vietnam, a heavy harvest among 9,420 people.

"They didn't have enough money to go to college and keep on going so they wouldn't get caught in the draft," said Postmaster T. R. Boring. "If you're going to draft kids, if it's necessary to go off somewhere and fight, then every kid ought to be drafted equally."

The draft caught 222 in Vinton County — not counting the boys who enlisted. That was the bone stuck in many Vinton County throats as a ceasefire neared — the nagging feeling that more of their boys might have come home if the draft had been without exceptions.

"Even so," said Boring, "I would say Vinton County is hawkish. Most people around here think that if you're going to get into a war then you ought to win it."

"Oh, the county knows it's lost a lot of kids," said Mrs. Gerry Frye, who runs the weekly Vinton Courier, "don't think they don't, but he's right. That's what I hear."

Nothing looked less warlike than McArthur and its 1,543 citizens. High school kids jostled into Gorsuch's Drug Store for a coke, screaming as Gene Barnes and John Perry and Tom Peacock and Roy Robinson and John Goodwin may have done in their day.

Middle-aged housewives, bundled against the chill wind blowing down the Hocking River valley, hurried by with a glance at the teenage horse-play. Kids are to be treasured in Vinton County. The population is a quarter less than 30 years back.

None looked at the Marine recruiting posters in front of the small Vinton County Courthouse, or its copper statue to the Civil War dead.

That's where it all began, at the courthouse, where SPC William A. Maxwell comes over a couple of times a week from Athens to recruit. The first of the 13 was Virgil Griffy, 21-year-old farm boy from nearby Creola. He enlisted for three years in 1962, and died of wounds a month before he was due out in December, 1965.

But, blackest of all was 1969. In three weeks McArthur lost three — Marine PFC Goodwin, 21, on March 19; Army Staff Sgt. Rex F. Church, 26, on March 23, and 1st Lt. Barnes, 25, on April 11.

"Oh, I'm bitter, sure, I'm bitter," said Mrs. Ross Goodwin, mother of John Goodwin. "I have only one consolation. He wanted to go. He had no fear about it. He thought it was the thing to do. I have that to think about."

The 1969 toll reached five. PFC Leslie Reynolds, 23, fourth of eight McArthur casualties, was killed in action in September, and a month later Sgt. Keither, Aden Patterson, 20, of Allensville, died in his tank at Quang Tri.

Community anger over what Vinton saw as draft inequities ran high in those days, but it was a street-corner, living room ire. Publicly it spent itself in a few letters to editors, to congressmen, to draft officials.

Ministers preached no sermons on that anger, nor did the local weekly editorialize, yet it was not for lack of concern. In shrinking Vinton County nearly everyone knows everyone else, or is related by blood or marriage.

"Gene Barnes?" said Postmaster Boring. "Yeah, I knew him. He was married to my niece." He pointed to slight middle-aged man coming through the Post Office door. "That's judge Wade Lohr. He's Gene's stepfather."

Judge Lohr dropped a letter into the Air Mail slot. "I think everyone agrees it's a useless war, that we're not getting anywhere, and that even if we're losing face we ought to be pulling out and keeping our boys at home," he said.

"Five? I thought it was more than that in 1969. It seemed to me it was more. It's been pretty rough."

Lt. Barnes, one of two college graduates among the lost 13, was a career officer, a famed high school fullback in McArthur and one of the popular boys in town. He was graduated from old McArthur high school in 1962.

The 1969 graduating class of what is now Vinton County Consolidated High School, only one in the county, put up a simple bronze plaque in the gymnasium, without fuss or ceremony. A handful stood around while someone fastened the plaque to the wall.

Dave Bolender is high school principal now, but he was the football coach for Goodwin, Sgt. Thomas E. F. Peacock, 21-year-old McArthur boy killed in 1970, and SP5 Roy R. Robinson, 20, killed in action in 1968.

"They were good boys," he said. "We had a 7-3 record that year. When I look at the picture of that team, it's hard to realize they're gone."

He stopped to give two boys some grass seed and instructions about reseeding the football field.

"There's more than those boys to worry about when I look at that team picture," he said. "Some of the other boys are over there still."

Bolender walked down the hall to the gymnasium. He gazed up at the plaque. Girls of the late afternoon physical education class milled around while a girl tried to do a flip and failed. Giggles chorused shortly. Bolender turned back to his office.

A few village blocks away Mrs. Francis Peacock talked about her son, Tom, killed by a sniper bullet a month before he was due out. "I'm not bitter. I've had to figure it was just one of those things."

"I'm glad the war may be coming to some sort of end and I'm glad for those who did make it back."

She sighed. "It seemed an awful lot were taken. I think most of the Vinton County boys who were drafted went to Vietnam. Why, my husband's sister has eight boys. They were all drafted and they all went to Vietnam, and none of them was hurt."

The chill had deepened on the streets. The few villagers abroad headed away from the center of town, walking briskly. Mrs. Frye watched the stragglers from the Courier window. "I don't think they're going to get all excited by a cease-fire," she said.

"They'll feel glad it's come, sure, but I think they're just fed up to here." She swept the edge of her hand across her throat.

"This is a conservative county," said Boring, a Democrat. "It's Nixon country. You know the President's grandfather came from here? Yeah, he lived here, went to Whittier, Calif., named Francis, or something."

Boring weighed a letter and sold an 8-cent stamp. "Amnesty," he said, "that killed (Sen. George) McGovern in this county. Amnesty." It sounded like a dirty word.

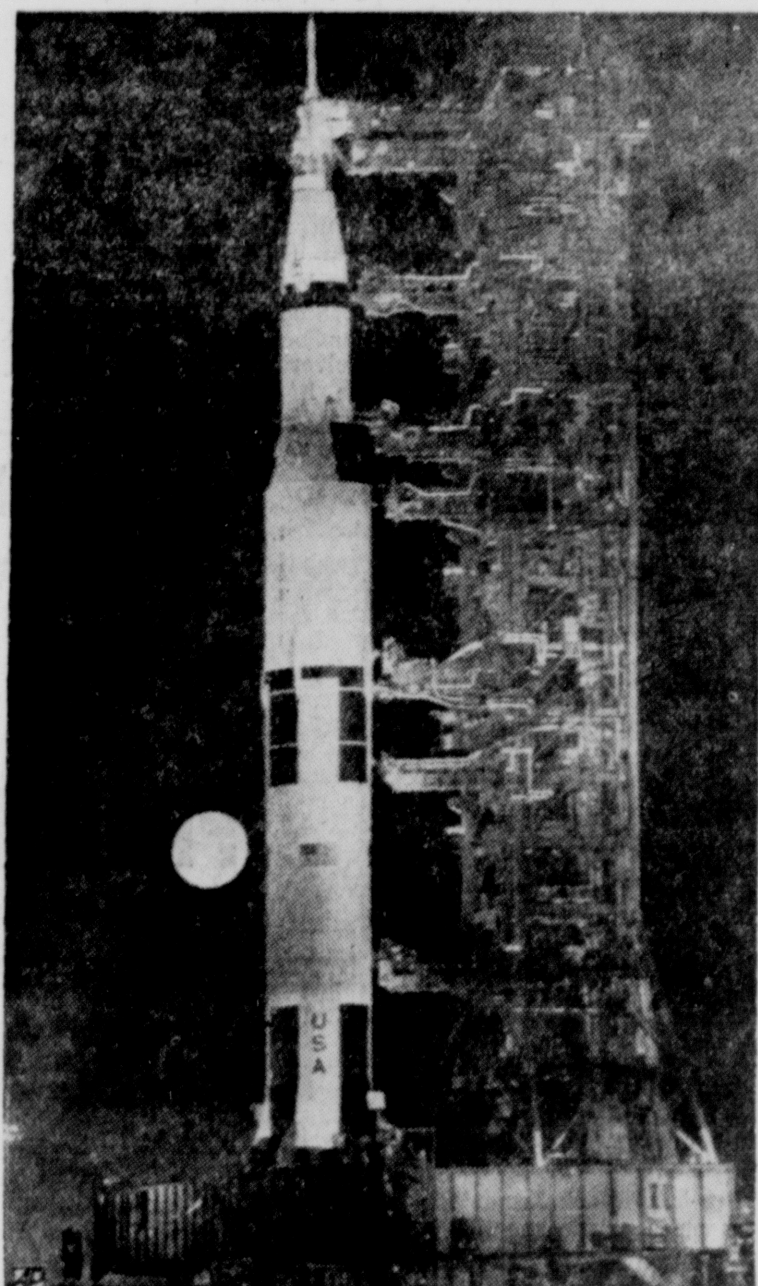

Vinton County has had many a brush with war in its 122-year history. It was only 10 years old when the Civil War began, but sent its sons. Even the county seat was martially named — for Gen. Duncan McArthur, an ancestor of Gen. Douglas McArthur.

Just outside the town, on a slope overlooking State Route 93, Elk Cemetery bristled with the flags on service graves. Thirty of them were from the sacrifices of World War II. Most of the county's 13 Vietnam victims lie there, too, along with the six dead of the Korean War.

"You bet your life this county's bitter," said Mrs. Frye.

"God knows best," said Mrs. Peacock. "God took him and it must have been for his good."

She hesitated. "I haven't told many people this, but even when Tom was a baby I had this feeling I wouldn't be able to keep him. 'God knows best,' she said.

Woman Slain With Hatchet

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Laura Foster, 27, and her sister Betty, 14, were recuperating here today from injuries they suffered Friday night when a man with a hatchet broke into their home.

Their mother Mrs. Sarah Foster, 42, was fatally injured in the attack.

Police were looking for a heavyset man in his 20s. They said he apparently intended to rob the house but it was not known if anything was missing after he left.

The attack was not discovered until Saturday morning when relatives went to the house.

The husband and father, Cenus Foster, had called the house after arriving in Georgia on a trip and asked relatives to check when a third daughter, age one, answered the phone in tears. The little girl was not harmed.

Navy Combines Reserve Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consolidation of the Naval Surface and Air Reserve Commands was announced Saturday. The Navy said the action is designed to strengthen the naval reserve.

Headquarters of the new command, the Navy said, will be in New Orleans.

The new command will be headed by Vice Adm. Damon W. Cooper who will serve as chief of naval reserve. For the past 22 months Cooper has been commander of the attack carrier striking force off Vietnam.

Between 1850-60, more than 150,000 white settlers pushed into Santee Sioux territory west of the Minnesota River.

Grid Action Brings Bowl Choices

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

There are some unhappy bowl teams around the country today... like Louisiana State, Missouri, Iowa State and Texas Tech. But there are some happier nonbowl teams... like Oklahoma State and Southern Methodist.

The unranked Oklahoma State Cowboys, 6-4, had some unkind words for the various bowl selection committees Saturday following their 45-14 trouncing of favored Iowa State, rated 17th and bound for the Liberty Bowl.

"We're disappointed that we're not in a bowl game because we've beaten three bowl teams (Colorado, Missouri, Iowa State)," said quarterback Brent Blackman, who scored once, ran for a two-point conversion and threw two long passes that set up touchdowns. "Our goal is to beat a fourth when we play Oklahoma next week."

Unranked and uninvited SMU also has a 6-4 mark after beating Baylor 12-7 and Coach Hayden Fry points out that if the Mustangs beat Texas Christian in their wind-up, "Our record will be better than some teams playing in bowl games. I'm going to recommend that the NCAA move back the date on which bowl selections can be made... at least until late November."

Actually, bowl invitations can be extended on the third Saturday in November or one week before the end of a team's regular season—whichever comes first.

Fry apparently was referring specifically to 16th-ranked Missouri, 6-5, and Iowa State, 5-4-1. Kansas upset Fiesta Bowl-bound Missouri 28-17 in what Coach Don Fambrough called "the Mud Bowl" behind David Jaynes' 259-yard passing.

Meanwhile, the last two major bowl berths were decided. No. 9 Ohio State pulled off two brilliant goal-line stands and held off previously unbeaten and third-ranked Michigan 14-11 to share the Big Ten crown and earn a trip to the Rose Bowl against top-ranked Southern California.

Tigers Overwhelm Westfall, 77-45

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

All 12 members of Circleville's cage squad saw action as the Tigers overwhelmed Westfall 77-45 Saturday night on the Mustangs' hardwood.

The Tigers put together a balanced attack, a stingy defense and controlled the boards as they rolled over the Mustangs in the Red and Black season opener.

Tiger Reserves Take Opener From Westfall

Circleville's reserve cage squad jumped out to an 11-2 lead at the end of the first quarter and then utilized a sticky defense to down the Westfall junior varsity 39-17 Saturday night on the Mustang's floor.

It was a fine team effort by Coach Dennis Stewart's boys to gain a victory in the season opener. The Mustangs, who had been putting points on the board in their first two outings, were unable to solve the defense of the Tigers.

Circleville came up with a balanced attack with nine players putting marks in the scoring ledger. The Tigers went to the boards with determination and dominated the rebounding game.

The Tigers led 21-8 at half-time, were out in front 30-12 at the end of the third quarter and breezed home with a 39-17 win.

Harold Reed paced Circleville with 13 points, Phil Roll added seven, David Bevan hooped six, Bill Massie, Pat McNaughton and John Stout each had three. Tim McNaughton netted two while Frank Plescia and Riley Rose had a point apiece.

Doug Cook led the Mustangs with six tallies, Brent Coleman added three while Tony Mosley, Ron Dowdy, Mike Malone and Jim Picklesimer each had two.

Circleville is now 1-0 and will be back in action Friday at Wilmington. Westfall will be at Paint Valley Friday.

Circleville's reserves went back into action in the final frame and the teams battled on even terms throughout the period. The final buzzer sounded with the Tigers holding a 77-45 margin.

All five starters for the Tigers put points in the scoring column with Truex hitting 18, Graham 16, Greg Hoskins 11, Doug Radabaugh nine and Glen Gillespie five.

Redskins Make It Into NFL East Playoffs

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Last year we made the playoffs and had to go to San Francisco," Washington Coach George Allen said. "Our next goal is to be open at home."

The Redskins officially made it into the National Football League playoffs and took a giant step toward that goal of a post-season home opener Sunday as Billy Kilmer tossed a pair of touchdown passes to guide them to a 21-16 victory over the Green Bay Packers.

It gave Washington a two-game lead over Dallas in the National Conference East with three games to go, one of them against the Cowboys, who lost to the 49ers 31-10 on Thanksgiving Day.

The Skins can finish no lower than second in their division. Even if they were to lose their remaining games, they would wind up the season with a 10-4 record and would gain the NFC's "wild card" playoff spot as the team with the best run-up record.

The victory also made things difficult for the Packers, who dropped into a first-place tie with Detroit for the Central Division lead, each at 7-4. The Lions whipped the New York Jets 27-20, also on Thanksgiving Day. Minnesota, which had a chance to make it a three-way tie, remained a game off the pace by losing 23-10 to Pittsburgh.

In Sunday's other games, Cleveland beat Buffalo 27-10, Oakland defeated Kansas City 26-3, New Orleans upset Los Angeles 19-16, Atlanta edged Denver 23-10, the Giants stomped Philadelphia 62-10, Baltimore blanked New England 31-9, Cincinnati topped Chicago 13-3 and San Diego beat Houston 34-20. In tonight's nationally televised game from Miami, the undefeated Dolphins try to make it 11 in a row against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Kilmer's second touchdown pass, a five-yarder to Charley Taylor, iced the game for the Redskins after MacArthur Lant's six-yard scoring run had narrowed the Washington lead to 14-13 in the fourth quarter.

Rookie Franco Harris rushed for 128 yards—the sixth time in seven games he's exceeded 100 yards—to pace the Steelers past Minnesota. He scored once on a 12-yard sweep and set up quarterback Terry Bradshaw's tie-breaking one-yard plunge with a 61-yard sprint that broke open the game in the fourth quarter.

The victory kept the Steelers tied with the Browns for first in the American Conference's Central Division. Cleveland spotted the Bills a 10-0 lead, then roared back, took the lead on Ken Brown's one-yard plunge and locked it up when middle linebacker Dale Lindsey deflected Leo Hart's pass to defensive end Nick Roman, who raced 36 yards for a touchdown. Buffalo's lone bright spot was O.J. Simpson's 93 yards. It enabled him to surpass the 1,000-yard mark.

The Raiders, avenging a 27-14 loss to Kansas City three weeks ago, all but locked up their fifth division title in six years as Daryle Lamonia threw touchdown passes of 14 yards to Fred Biletnikoff and 19 to Raymond Chester late in the first half, breaking open a close game. "They captured control of the game and it was hard for us to ever get it back," Chiefs Coach Hank Stram said after the Raiders opened a 2½-game lead in the AFC West.

The Rams needed a victory to stay even with the 49ers atop the NFC West. Instead, they fell into third, a game off the pace, as Happy Feller, acquired by New Orleans just three weeks ago, booted a game-winning 33-yard field goal with three seconds to play.

The Falcons, moving into second, half a game behind San Francisco, needed a steamed-up Claude Humphrey to beat the Broncos. "I was looking to get even. I was looking for somebody to hit," said the defensive end after being angered by successive 15-yard penalties against him that set up a Denver field goal.

First he hit Broncos quarterback Charley Johnson in the end zone for a safety and the Falcons' first points after they had fallen behind 13-0. Then he pounced on Floyd Little's fumble to set up Art Malone's second one-yard touchdown run to put Atlanta ahead.

The Giants could do no wrong against Philadelphia as they amassed the most points in their history. The 62 surpassed the previous record of 56 set back in 1933—also against the Eagles.

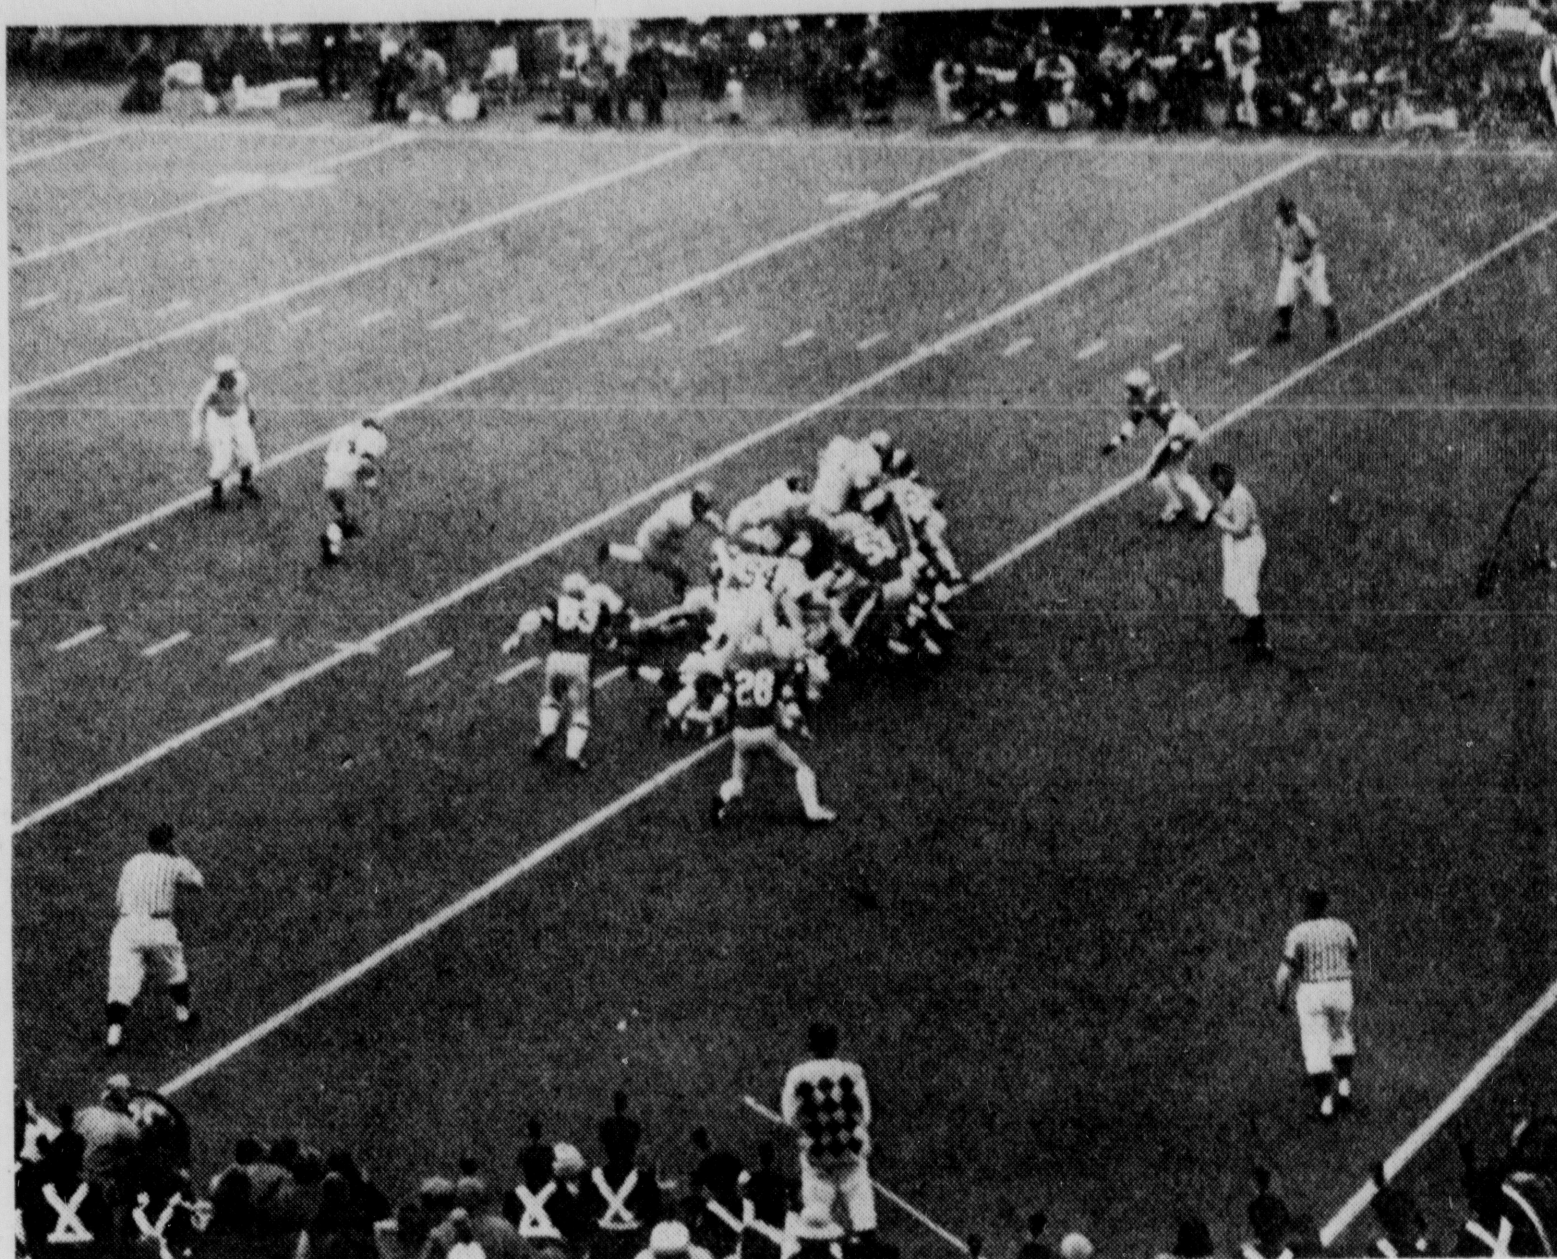

Marty Domres, the heir apparent to Johnny Unitas, wasn't really pleased with his performance against the Patriots despite his three touchdown passes, two to Sam Havrilak.

"I didn't think I played so hot," said the Colts' young quarterback. Still, he was hot enough to hand New England its eighth straight setback.

Virgil Carter, a Chicago cast-off who wound up on the Bengals, wasn't looking to get even with his old teammates. It just worked out that way as he passed for the game's only touchdown, a 26-yarder to Essex Johnson.

It was Carter's first start in place of Ken Anderson because, as Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown said, "we needed an experienced man in there."

Cid Edwards got two of San Diego's touchdowns with runs of one and 31 yards but it was reserve running back Jesse Taylor who got the Chargers started by blocking Dan Pastorini's punt and falling on it for a touchdown as the Oilers' record tumbled to 1-10, worst in the league.

TOUGH DEFENSE — Michigan's quarterback Dennis Franklin is stopped short of the goal line by a horde of aroused Ohio State defenders in the fourth quarter. The fourth down plunge failed and the Buckeyes had a 14-11 victory over the Wolverines. It was the second fine goal line stand for the Buckeyes as the defense was the key to the victory. Teays Valley's Champ Henson tallied his 20th touchdown of the year and Archie Griffin raced into paydirt to give State its two touchdowns and a trip to the Rose Bowl.

OSU Gridders Confident They Can Win Rose Bowl

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Even if their coach isn't saying so, Ohio State football players are confident they can whip top-ranked Southern California in the Rose Bowl.

"We'll prove we're the best damned team in the country," boasted fullback Champ Henson Saturday after he scored a touchdown in the Buckeyes' 14-11 nationally televised victory over Michigan.

Johnny Miller Leads Heritage Classic

S.C. (AP) — He looked positively embarrassed and just a little surprised as he tried to explain his four-over-par 75 that was leading the golf tournament.

Son John Miller, aged 2½, sat on his lap and yawned broadly from time to time as Johnny Miller tried to put it all together. "Almost unbelievable... just one of those days... it's hard to believe..."

The phrases tumbled from his lips as Miller tried to thaw out and assess his round, mediocre by the best standards, that left him in control after three rounds of the weather-plagued $125,000 Heritage Golf Classic.

"If we prepare like we did for this game, we'll beat Southern Cal," said linebacker Randy Gradishar, in the middle of the Buckeyes' two goal line stands against Michigan.

"We were too confident then."

Woody Hayes, Ohio State's 22-year mentor, preferred to relish the victory over his biggest rival rather than think about the touted Trojans.

Hayes promised he would be off the injured list in time for

OU Suffers 87-75 Loss To Missouri

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Defending Mid American Conference basketball champion Ohio University suffered an 87-75 loss at the hands of Missouri Saturday as a scattering of Ohio schools got their basketball seasons under way.

Ohio State University, with four starters returning from last year, opens its season tonight against Wisconsin-Milwaukee at St. John's Arena in Columbus.

Missouri dominated its game with the visiting Bobcats, opening up a 48-35 halftime lead and widening the margin to as much as 16 points in the second stanza.

In other college basketball action Saturday:

The University of Toledo defeated Wisconsin-Green Bay, 77-66; Earlham edged by Urbana, 65-62; Heidelberg dumped Marietta, 62-49; Baldwin Wallace rolled over Ohio Wesleyan, 78-69; and Otterbein nudged Oberlin 72-69.

Also, Capital overpowered Ohio Dominican, 84-41; Wittenberg blasted Wooster, 61-47; Cedarville squeaked past Lincoln Memorial, 78-77; and Steubenville beat Mt. St. Mary's of Maryland, 60-53.

Aces Edged By Fisher

Amanda-Clearcreek was edged in the final seconds Saturday by Lancaster Fisher, 65-64, in the opening basketball game for the Aces. It was a Mid State League game.

The Aces were ahead with 10 seconds to go in the game, but missed the first shot of a one and one situation. Fisher got the rebound and their All-Ohio cager of a year ago, Greg Ramano, was fouled with six seconds to go.

He made both shots to clinch the win. A last desperation shot by the Aces was wide of its mark.

Ace head coach James Wright was pleased with the ability of his team to contain Fisher's usually high scoring offense by controlling the tempo of the game. The man-to-man defense employed by Amanda-Clearcreek also came in for some mention from the coach.

The Aces downfall was at the foul line where they made only 18 of 38 attempts, less than 50 per cent.

Romano was the leading scorer for Fisher with 23 points. Virgil Strickler scored 26 for Amanda. Strickler and Bob Foster were singled out by the coach for the work on the defensive and offensive boards.

The next game for Amanda-Clearcreek is at Bloom Carroll Friday.

The Aces reserves lost, 46-44.

Grid Action Brings Bowl Choices

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

There are some unhappy bowl teams around the country today — like Louisiana State, Missouri, Iowa State and Texas Tech. But there are some happier nonbowl teams — like Oklahoma State and Southern Methodist.

The unranked Oklahoma State Cowboys, 6-4, had some unkind words for the various bowl selection committees Saturday following their 45-14 trouncing of favored Iowa State, rated 17th and bound for the Liberty Bowl.

"We're disappointed that we're not in a bowl game because we've beaten three bowl teams (Colorado, Missouri, Iowa State)," said quarterback Brent Blackman, who scored once, ran for a two-point conversion and threw two long passes that set up touchdowns. "Our goal is to beat a fourth when we play Oklahoma next week."

Unranked and uninvited SMU also has a 6-4 mark after beating Baylor 12-7 and Coach Hayden Fry points out that if the Mustangs beat Texas Christian in their wind-up, "Our record will be better than some teams playing in bowl games. I'm going to recommend that the NCAA move back the date on which bowl selections can be made ... at least until late November."

Actually, bowl invitations can be extended on the third Saturday in November or one week before the end of a team's regular season—whichever comes first.

Fry apparently was referring specifically to 16th-ranked Missouri, 6-5, and Iowa State, 5-4-1. Kansas upset Fiesta Bowl-bound Missouri 28-17 in what Coach Don Fambrough called "the Mud Bowl" behind David Jaynes' 259-yard passing.

Meanwhile, the last two major bowl berths were decided. No. 9 Ohio State pulled off two brilliant goal-line stands and held off previously unbeaten and third-ranked Michigan 14-11 to share the Big Ten crown and earn a trip to the Rose Bowl against top-ranked Southern California.

Texas Tech, 20th in the rankings and scheduled for a Sun Bowl date with North Carolina, lost to Arkansas 24-14 when the Razorbacks cashed in on fumbles and a pass interference call for touchdowns.

Elsewhere, sixth-ranked Penn State handed Pitt a school record 10th defeat 49-27 as John Hufnagel threw three scoring passes; No. 12 Tennessee used the running of Haskel Stanback and Condredge Holloway's passing to turn back stubborn Kentucky 17-7; No. 15 North Carolina routed East Carolina 42-19 as Ike Oglesby scored three times.

Dartmouth won the Ivy League title with a 31-17 come-from-behind victory over Penn; Louisville blanked Drake 27-0 to share Missouri Valley honors with the Bulldogs; Michigan State made Coach Duffy Daugherty's last game a joyous one by beating Northwestern 24-14 and Purdue's Otis Armstrong became the Big Ten's all-time leading ground-gainer with 276 yards—for a career total of 3,316—and three touchdowns as the Boilermakers whipped Indiana 42-7.

The only casualty in the Michigan-Ohio State war besides the unbeaten Wolverines' 10-game winning streak was Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes, who pulled a calf muscle trying to keep fans from tearing down the goalposts in the closing seconds.

"I'll be in shape for the Rose Bowl," he promised.

OSU Sets Priority For Rose Bowl Ducats

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fulltime students and their spouses will get first crack at Ohio State University's share of tickets to the Rose Bowl football game in Pasadena, Calif., on New Year's Day.

The school announced today its priority system for tickets to the game, in which the Buckeyes, as Big Ten representatives, will meet top-ranked Southern California.

Next in priority for the tickets, which sell for $10.50 each, are fulltime faculty and staff, followed by West Coast members of the Alumni Association, and then benefactors of the university, Alumni Association members and others who have purchased season tickets for five or more consecutive years.

We won't be this time because we'll be the underdogs," he said.

Woody Hayes, Ohio State's 22-year mentor, preferred to relish the victory over his biggest rival rather than think about the touted Trojans.

"I watched about four minutes of them on television," he said of Southern California. "They've got a fabulous team, just fabulous. Can't you let me enjoy this though?"

Hayes promised he would be off the injured list in time for the Rose Bowl game. He pulled a leg muscle, trying to keep Buckeye fans from ripping down the south goal posts in the closing seconds Saturday.

"There were 13 seconds left and I wanted to make sure the game was finished," he explained.

Officials had another set of goal posts ready under the stands if Michigan moved into position for a tying field goal. A deadlock would have given the Wolverines the sole title and the Rose Bowl trip.

Tiger Reserves Take Opener From Westfall

Circleville's reserve cage squad jumped out to an 11-2 lead at the end of the first quarter and then utilized a sticky defense to down the Westfall junior varsity 39-17 Saturday night on the Mustang's floor.

It was a fine team effort by Coach Dennis Stewart's boys to gain a victory in the season opener. The Mustangs, who had been putting points on the board in their first two outings, were unable to solve the defense of the Tigers.

Circleville came up with a balanced attack with nine players putting marks in the scoring ledger. The Tigers went to the boards with determination and dominated the rebounding game.

The Tigers led 21-8 at half-time, were out in front 30-12 at the end of the third canto and breezed home with a 39-17 win.

Harold Reed paced Circleville with 13 points, Phil Roll added seven, David Bevan hooped six, Bill Massie, Pat McNaughton and John Stout each had three. Tim McNaughton netted two while Frank Plescia and Riley Rose had a point apiece.

Doug Cook led the Mustangs with six tallies, Brent Coleman added three while Tony Mosley, Ron Dowdy, Mike Malone and Jim Picklesimer each had two.

Circleville is now 1-0 and will be back in action Friday at Paint Valley Friday.

Circleville held a slim 8-4 lead with 2:38 remaining in the first quarter and it looked like it might be a battle before the night was over.

But the Tigers put 13 straight points on the board before Mike Peterson hit from the corner for the Mustangs at the buzzer to give the Tigers a 21-8 edge.

DAN Graham and Dave Truex began to find the range in the second stanza and the Tigers led 33-10 halfway through the period.

At this point Circleville coach John Lawhorn went to his bench and the starters saw limited action for the remainder of the half.

Kris Kline started to rip the nets and Perry Hoskins and Robin Martin hit two pointers to up the count to 47-13 as the half ended.

Graham, Truex and Greg Hoskins did the damage for Circleville in the third canto to offset a fine scoring effort by Marc Easterday and Peterson of the Mustangs. The Tigers led 63-28 at the conclusion of quarter.

Circleville's reserves went back into action in the final frame and the teams battled on even terms throughout the period. The final buzzer sounded with the Tigers holding a 77-45 mark.

All five starters for the Tigers put points in the scoring column with Truex hitting 18, Graham 16, Greg Hoskins 11, Doug Radabaugh nine and Glen Gillespie five.

KLINE added eight. Perry Hoskins six with Steve Allen and Robin Martin each hooping two.

Easterday led Westfall and all scorers in the contest with 19 markers. Peterson added 11, Jim Wright, Artie Dick and Joe Angles had four apiece, Jay Clark netted two and Greg McKay had one to account for the Westfall totals.

Turnovers played a big factor in the contest as the Circleville defense caused the Mustangs to misplay the ball 26 times.

Circleville was guilty of turning the ball over on 14 occasions.

The Tigers connected on 33 of 66 from the floor and converted 11 of 20 from the charity stripe.

Westfall hit 19 of 56 from the field and had seven of 13 from the foul line.

Circleville won the battle of the boards with 37 rebounds to the Mustangs' 29. Graham paced the Red and Black with 11 grabs and Truex pulled down eight.

Peterson was the big rebounder for the Mustangs with nine from the boards.

Circleville is now 1-0 for the season and will open South Central Ohio League competition Friday night at Wilmington. The Tigers will host Hamilton Twp. Saturday night.

Westfall is 0-3 for the year and will be at Paint Valley Friday night in a Scioto Valley Conference clash.

Circleville's reserves downed Westfall's junior varsity, 39-17, in the opening tilt.

Redskins Make It Into NFL East Playoffs

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Last year we made the playoffs and had to go to San Francisco," Washington Coach George Allen said. "Our next goal is to open at home."

The Redskins officially made it into the National Football League playoffs and took a giant step toward that goal of a post-season home opener Sunday as Billy Kilmer tossed a pair of touchdown passes to guide them to a 21-16 victory over the Green Bay Packers.

It gave Washington a two-game lead over Dallas in the National Conference East with three games to go, one of them against the Cowboys, who lost to the 49ers 31-10 on Thanksgiving Day.

The Skins can finish no lower than second in their division. Even if they were to lose their remaining games, they would wind up the season with a 10-4 record and would gain the NFC's "wild card" playoff spot as the team with the best runner-up record.

The victory also made things difficult for the Packers, who dropped into a first-place tie with Detroit for the Central Division lead, each at 7-4. The Lions whipped the New York Jets 27-20, also on Thanksgiving Day, Minnesota, which had a chance to make it a three-way tie, remained a game off the pace by losing 23-10 to Pittsburgh.

In Sunday's other games, Cleveland beat Buffalo 27-10, Oakland defeated Kansas City 26-3, New Orleans upset Los Angeles 19-16, Atlanta edged Denver 23-10, the Giants stomped Philadelphia 62-10, Baltimore blanked New England 31-0, Cincinnati topped Chicago 13-3 and San Diego beat Houston 34-20. In tonight's nationally televised game from Miami, the undefeated Dolphins try to make it 11 in a row against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Kilmer's second touchdown pass, a five-yarder to Charley Taylor, iced the game for the Redskins after MacArthur Lant's six-yard scoring run had narrowed the Washington lead to 14-13 in the fourth quarter.

Rookie Franco Harris rushed for 128 yards—the sixth time in seven games he's exceeded 100 yards—to pace the Steelers past Minnesota. He scored once on a 12-yard burst and set up quarterback Terry Bradshaw's tie-breaking one-yard plunge with a 61-yard sprint that broke open the game in the fourth quarter.

The victory kept the Steelers tied with the Browns for first in the American Conference's Central Division. Cleveland spotted the Bills a 10-0 lead, then roared back, took the lead on Ken Brown's one-yard plunge and locked it up when middle linebacker Dale Lindsey deflected Leo Hart's pass to defensive end Nick Roman, who raced 36 yards for a touchdown. Buffalo's lone bright spot was O.J. Simpson's 95 yards. It enabled him to surpass the 1,000-yard mark.

The Raiders, avenging a 27-14 loss to Kansas City three weeks ago, all but locked up their fifth division title in six years as Darley Lamonica threw touchdown passes of 14 yards to Fred Biletnikoff and 19 to Raymond Chester late in the first half, breaking open a close game.

"They captured control of the game and it was hard for us to ever get it back," Chiefs Coach Hank Stram said after the Raiders opened a 2½ game lead in the AFC West.

The Rams needed a victory to stay even with the 49ers atop the NFC West. Instead, they fell into third, a game off the pace, as Happy Feller, acquired by New Orleans just three weeks ago, booted a game-winning 33-yard field goal with three seconds to play.

The Falcons, moving into second, half a game behind San Francisco, needed a steamered-up Claude Humphrey to beat the Broncos. "I was looking to get even. I was looking for somebody to hit," said the defensive end after being angered by successive 15-yard penalties against him that set up a Denver field goal.

First he hit Broncos quarterback Charley Johnson in the end zone for a safety and the Falcons' first points after they had fallen behind 13-0. Then he pounced on Floyd Little's fumble to set up Art Malone's second one-yard touchdown run to put Atlanta ahead.

The Giants could do no wrong against Philadelphia as they amassed the most points in their history. The 62 surpassed the previous record of 56 set back in 1933—also against the Eagles.

Marty Domres, the heir apparent to Johnny Unitas, wasn't really pleased with his performance against the Patriots despite his three touchdown passes, two to Sam Havrilak.

"I didn't think I played so hot," said the Colts' young quarterback. Still, he was hot enough to hand New England its eighth straight setback.

Virgil Carter, a Chicago cast-off who wound up on the Bengals, wasn't looking to get even with his old teammates. It just worked out that way as he passed for the game's only touchdown, a 26-yarder to Essex Johnson.

It was Carter's first start in place of Ken Anderson because, as Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown said, "we needed an experienced man in there."

Cid Edwards got two of San Diego's touchdowns with runs of one and 31 yards but it was reserve running back Jesse Taylor who got the Chargers started by blocking Dan Pastorini's punt and falling on it for a touchdown as the Oilers' record tumbled to 1-10, worst in the league.

Warren Wins AAA Football Title

By ROBERT L. SHAFFER
Associated Press Writer
WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Coach Joe Novak says his Warren Western Reserve Raiders don't like mud, but no one would have believed him after seeing the Raiders plough through the mud to the state Class AAA football title Saturday night.

Novak said he was "disappointed" in the sloppy state of the field in Akron's Rubber Bowl prior to the first official state championship game between Warren and Cincinnati Princeton.

"But our kids were so wound up, it didn't stop 'em," said Novak. "They just went out and played football."

The field was so sloppy, with in a few plays both teams were covered with mud, and jersey numbers were nearly obliterated.

By the time the Raiders' first team came triumphantly off the field with 3:12 left to play, their white uniforms trimmed with gold were plastered solid with mud.

Halfback Mike Spiva, who stands 5-foot-8 and weighs only 138 pounds, ran and skidded through the mud for three fourth-quarter touchdowns to lead the undefeated Raiders to an overwhelming 37-6 victory over Princeton's Vikings.

Warren's defense, which had shut out six foes in 11 games prior to the championship, tightened up after allowing Princeton an early touchdown on a four-yard pass from Guy Wright to Rick White.

Novak said he was afraid the quick touchdown would take an edge off the Raiders' spirit, but when Spiva ran back the next kickoff 67 yards "that did it."

Warren had to settle for a 32-yard field goal by Bill Williams on that series, but on the next series the Raiders got their first big break. Wright went back to kick on fourth down but was dropped all the way back at the Cincinnati 21 when a ball snap from center sent the ball over his head. Seven plays later, John Hickman ran three yards for a touchdown, and Warren went ahead to stay.

Two of Spiva's touchdowns came after Martin Murray recovered Cincinnati fumbles. The diminutive back scored on runs of 27, 13 and 7 yards and wound up with a total of 73 yards in 12 carries.

Reserve halfback Neal Hall score the final touchdown on a three-yard run.

Cincinnati's White, a 6-foot-5, 200-pound end, stopped two other Warren drives with pass interceptions.

The Vikings, who wound up with a 10-1 record, were ranked third in the final Ohio Associated Press poll and had knocked off first-ranked Massillon on their way to the title game.

Western Reserve was ranked No. 2 in the AP poll. Among the

Arthur Ashe Wins Tennis Tournament

ROME (AP) — Arthur Ashe earned $25,000 by winning the third World Championship Tennis Tournament final Sunday in what he called "my biggest payday." He also said it was "too much."

The 29-year-old star from Miami, Fla., came from behind in the fifth set to beat fellow American Bob Lutz 6-2, 3-6, 6-3, 3-6, 7-6. It was a gruelling, dramatic battle, but after it was over Ashe returned to his role as a militant leader of the Players' Association.

Raiders' victims during the ten-game regular season was Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary, which won the state Class AA title Friday night at Massillon with a 28-7 victory over Columbus Watterson.

Bid To Free IRA Chieftain Ends In Wild Gun Battle

DUBLIN (AP) — IRA chieftain Sean MacStiofain in "very weak but in no immediate danger of death" as a result of his nine-day-old hunger and thirst strike, doctors treating him in a Dublin hospital said today.

MacStiofain, who is fasting to protest his arrest by the Irish Republic, was given a six-month jail term Saturday for belonging to the outlawed Irish Republican Army. His sentencing spawned a futile attempt to free him Sunday night, gun battles in Belfast and demonstrations in London.

British troops said they shot 41 IRA men in heavy skirmishing in Belfast, the capital of Northern Ireland, and captured three IRA officers, including a company commander and a explosives expert, in a raid on a dance hall.

Police said four persons were slightly wounded in the attempt by eight gunmen, two dressed as Roman Catholic priests, the others as doctors and hospital workers — to free MacStiofain from Dublin's Mater Hospital. The casualties were one of the gunmen, who was captured, one policeman and two by-standers.

The seven other gunmen fled in taxis.

"It happened during the hospital visiting time," a police spokesman said. "Lots of people were waiting to see sick relatives," and the disguised gunmen mingled with the visitors.

"Our men were in an office leading to the ward where MacStiofain is detained," the spokesman said. "The gunmen had to pass them, and the gun battle took place in a narrow passage leading to the ward. Shots were flying everywhere."

"There never was any danger of them getting MacStiofain out," he added.

Following the attempt, MacStiofain was moved from the hospital's ground floor to the third story, and doctors said he might be shifted again as a security precaution. Police cordoned off the building.

At one point Sunday night, about 4,000 supporters of the IRA were milling around the hospital, demanding MacStiofain be freed to preserve his life.

When they began an all-night vigil, the guerrilla leader's wife, Marie, appealed to them to move elsewhere. "There are 400 other patients in there as well," she said.

New Zealand Government Change Set

CHRISTCHURCH (AP) — New Zealand's new government will undertake new-look foreign policies, Prime Minister-elect Norman Eric Kirk said Sunday.

Looking tired after celebrating his Labor party's upset landslide victory in Saturday's general election, Kirk said in an interview: "There will be a lot of changes."

Among them, he said, will be New Zealand's phasing out from the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

"SEATO is not an effective body — if it ever was," said the 49-year-old former railway fireman. "It is an accident. The Nixon Doctrine has declared a much lower United States involvement, and countries like Indonesia, Singapore and Malaysia want to be part of an organization to link up countries."

"We need an organization which brings countries together rather than separates them as SEATO does."

Kirk said: "We would be most interested in an arrangement to supersede SEATO — but not a defensive arrangement."

"My belief is that peace is an unnatural state of affairs. Violence is primitive and natural. People have got to create and then maintain peace."

Kirk, who will be sworn in as prime minister by the governor general in about nine days, said New Zealand would take new initiatives toward recognizing the People's Republic of China and against French nuclear tests in the Pacific.

Man Arrested For Abduction

MIDDLEPORT, Ohio (AP) — Gary W. Rucker, 22, of Coalville was to be arraigned here today on charges in connection with an attempted abduction Saturday.

Rucker allegedly forced his way into a woman's car and ordered her to drive him to Coalville. The woman Sandra Harris, 22, of New Haven, W. Va., said she drove into a Pomeroy gas station and jumped from the car.

Rucker then allegedly drove off with the woman's car, hit another car without stopping six or seven miles away and finally collided with an Athens County Sheriff's deputy's cruiser after which he was caught.

Young Socialist Alliance Reaffirms Plans At Meeting

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A national convention of young socialists ground to a halt here Sunday after reaffirming Young Socialist Alliance objectives from renewed student activism to a separate black political party.

There were few surprises in the four-day convention, and SA leaders said after sessions closed that there had been "no fundamental change" in the direction of the SA.

Most significant of the convention's actions, they said, were a call for SA involvement among students even down to the junior high level and a major between-election drive toward increasing interest in socialism as a political objective.

Newly re-elected National Chairman Andy Rose, reiterating an appeal to disenchanted

McGovern supporters, said that youth who supported the Democratic party this fall will be a primary target in the drive.

"Now that the election is over, there's a lot of reconsideration going on," he said, "a lot of rethinking — what are the effective ways to strike? We're going to be part of that process."

"One of the things is that the youth who supported McGovern have nowhere to go right now. They don't know what to do, whereas the YSA knows exactly what it's going to do" another YSA leader said.

Laura Miller, 20, was re-elected organizational secretary, and the 21-year-old vice presidential candidate for the Socialist Workers party this fall, Andrew Pulley, was named national secretary. All three top officers are from New York.

Chief Thieu Aide Heads For Paris

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu's chief aide, Hoang Duc Nha, is on his way to Paris to join other South Vietnamese delegates and observers at the Indochina peace talks, Independence Palace announced Monday.

Nha will replace Nguyen Phu Duc, Thieu's senior foreign policy adviser, who is expected to arrive in Washington Monday or Tuesday from Paris as a special envoy to President Nixon.

The White House said over the weekend that Nixon had agreed to Thieu's request that he receive Duc for discussions of the adjourned secret talks in Paris.

Thieu is said to believe South Vietnam's objections to the current draft proposal have not been made sufficiently clear to Nixon by his own advisers, including Dr. Henry A. Kissinger. American sources said U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and key aides spent several hours in private conferences at the embassy here Sunday.

Bunker then visited Thieu for 10 minutes at 8 a.m. Monday, embassy spokesmen reported. They had no information on the subject of the meeting or the reason for its brevity.

Nixon is expected to spend most, if not all, of the week at Camp David, dealing with the Vietnam negotiations and his plans for reorganizing the federal bureaucracy.

He scheduled a morning appointment today with Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst. The last member of the Cabinet to discuss reorganization with the chief executive, Kleindienst has been rumored to be on the verge of leaving his Justice Department post.

Food Stamp Regulations Are Changed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has amended its Food Stamp Program regulations to change the income calculations for shelter costs in determining eligibility for food stamps.

The previous method of calculating income required that shelter costs be deducted after mandatory deductions, such as taxes, and before exclusion of any other allowable expenses. Housing costs in excess of 30 per cent of income may be deducted.

The new amendment allows the shelter deduction to be made after all other deductions. This change in the order of making deductions reduces the calculate net income for some households with high medical costs, child care fees and similar expenses.

Criminal Code Revision Action Set In Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The omnibus criminal code revision bill is expected to go to the Senate floor this week and, if approved, to a conference committee to resolve differences with the House-passed version.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is scheduled to take final action on the measure Tuesday afternoon, sending it on its way toward action by the full Senate.

One of the major differences between the House and Senate bills is a provision inserted by the Senate committee last week to retain capital punishment.

The committee supported a plan which calls for a three-judge panel to make the life or death decision if a jury convicts for one of nine types of murder.

The U.S. Supreme Court recently held that capital punishment was unconstitutional as it was being administered.

The 300-page bill is the first complete overhaul of Ohio criminal law since 1815. If it isn't approved in the final session of the current legislature, it will have to be reintroduced and reconsidered again in the 110th General Assembly, which convenes Jan. 1.

The House State Government Committee begins hearings Tuesday on proposed constitutional amendments for the May 1973 primary ballot which would permit a state lottery, allow the election of governor and lieutenant governor as a team and permit expense allowances for legislators.

Other measures still awaiting action in the legislature include:

—A senate-passed bill to change Ohio's legal age of majority in most cases from 21 years to 18 years.

—A Senate-approved bill to regulate consumer credit practices.

—Legislation to provide a Vietnam veterans bonus.

—Pay raise legislation for lawmakers and other elected officials around Ohio.

—A House-approved bill stiffening nursing home safety standards and increasing state subsidies for patients.

—Ratification of the 27th "equal rights" amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

—Legislation now in the House Rules Committee to allow revenue bond financing for low and moderate income housing development programs.

Bid To Free IRA Chieftain Ends In Wild Gun Battle

DUBLIN (AP) — IRA chieftain Sean MacStiofain in "very weak but in no immediate danger of death" as a result of his nine-day-old hunger and thirst strike, doctors treating him in a Dublin hospital said today.

MacStiofain, who is fasting to protest his arrest by the Irish Republic, was given a six-month jail term Saturday for belonging to the outlawed Irish Republican Army. His sentencing spawned a futile attempt to free him Sunday night, gun battles in Belfast and demonstrations in London.

British troops said they shot 11 IRA men in heavy skirmishing in Belfast, the capital of Northern Ireland, and captured three IRA officers, including a company commander and a explosives expert, in a raid on a dance hall.

Police said four persons were slightly wounded in the attempt by eight gunmen, two dressed as Roman Catholic priests, the others as doctors and hospital workers — to free MacStiofain from Dublin's Mater Hospital. The casualties were one of the gunmen, who was captured, one policeman and two by standers.

The seven other gunmen fled in taxis.

"It happened during the hospital visiting time," a police spokesman said. "Lots of people were waiting to see sick relatives," and the disguised gunmen mingled with the visitors.

"Our men were in an office leading to the ward where MacStiofain is detained," the spokesman said. "The gunmen had to pass them, and the gun battle took place in a narrow passage leading to the ward. Shots were flying everywhere."

"There never was any danger of them getting MacStiofain out," he added.

Following the attempt, MacStiofain was moved from the hospital's ground floor to the third story, and doctors said he might be shifted again as a security precaution. Police cordoned off the building.

At one point Sunday night, about 4,000 supporters of the IRA were milling around the hospital, demanding MacStiofain be freed to preserve his life.

When they began an all-night vigil, the guerrilla leader's wife, Marie, appealed to them to move elsewhere. "There are 400 other patients in there as well," she said.

New Zealand Government Change Set

CHRISTCHURCH (AP) — New Zealand's new government will undertake new-look foreign policies, Prime Minister-elect Norman Eric Kirk said Sunday.

Looking tired after celebrating his Labor party's upset landslide victory in Saturday's general election, Kirk said in an interview: "There will be a lot of changes."

Among them, he said, will be New Zealand's phasing out from the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

"SEATO is not an effective body — if it ever was," said the 49-year-old former railway fireman. "It is a relic. The Nixon Doctrine has declared a much lower United States involvement, and countries like Indonesia, Singapore and Malaysia want to be part of an organization to link up countries."

"We need an organization which brings countries together rather than separates them as SEATO does."

Kirk said: "We would be most interested in an arrangement to supervise SEATO — but not a defensive arrangement."

"My belief is that peace is an unnatural state of affairs. Violence is primitive and natural. People have got to create and then maintain peace."

Kirk, who will be sworn in as prime minister by the governor general in about nine days, said New Zealand would take new initiatives toward recognizing the People's Republic of China and against French nuclear tests in the Pacific.

Man Arrested For Abduction

MIDDLEPORT, Ohio (AP) — Gary W. Rucker, 22, of Coalville was to be arraigned here today on charges in connection with an attempted abduction Saturday.

Rucker allegedly forced his way into a woman's car and ordered her to drive him to Coalville. The woman Sandra Harris, 22, of New Haven, W. Va., said she drove into a Pomeroy gas station and jumped from the car.

Rucker then allegedly drove off with the woman's car, hit another car without stopping six or seven miles away and finally collided with an Athens County Sheriff's deputy's cruiser after which he was caught.

Young Socialist Alliance Reaffirms Plans At Meeting

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A national convention of young socialists ground to a halt here Sunday after reaffirming Young Socialist Alliance objectives from renewed student activism to a separate black political party.

There were few surprises in the four-day convention, and SA leaders said after sessions closed that there had been "no fundamental change" in the direction of the SA.

Most significant of the convention's actions, they said, were a call for SA involvement among students even down to the junior high level and a major between-election drive toward increasing interest in socialism as a political objective.

Chief Thieu Aide Heads For Paris

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu's chief aide, Hoang Duc Nha, is on his way to Paris to join other South Vietnamese delegates and observers at the Indochina peace talks, Independence Palace announced Monday.

Nha will replace Nguyen Phu Duc, Thieu's senior foreign policy adviser, who is expected to arrive in Washington Monday or Tuesday from Paris as a special envoy to President Nixon.

The White House said over the weekend that Nixon had agreed to Thieu's request that he receive Duc for discussions of the adjourned secret talks in Paris.

Thieu is said to believe South Vietnam's objections to the current draft proposal have not been made sufficiently clear to Nixon by his own advisers, including Dr. Henry A. Kissinger. American sources said U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and key aides spent several hours in private conferences at the embassy here Sunday.

Bunker then visited Thieu for 10 minutes at 8 a.m. Monday, embassy spokesmen reported. They had no information on the subject of the meeting or the reason for it's brevity.

surmountable barrier, the negotiations would have been broken off indefinitely as in the past, rather than being rescheduled for Dec. 4.

Nixon is expected to spend most, if not all, of the week at Camp David, dealing with the Vietnam negotiations and his plans for reorganizing the federal bureaucracy.

He scheduled a morning appointment today with Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst. The last member of the Cabinet to discuss reorganization with the chief executive, Kleindienst has been rumored to be on the verge of leaving his Justice Department post.
